DEUTSCHLAND MAY BE AWAITING WORD FROM THE BREMEN

IS SCREENED FROM VIEW

Craft May Put Into Some Cove Down Chesapeake Bay and Await Chance to Dash Out.

Baltimore, July 27.—With clearance papers for the submarine freight liner Deutschland in his possession and with everything apparently in readiness for the vessel's departure, Captain Paul Koenig is waiting tonight, it is believed, for news from another sub-sea vessel, the Bremen. An indication that the homeward bound submersible may put into some cove down the Chesapeake Bay to await an opportune time to make a dash out of the capes, is the quantity of coal stored on the after deck of the tug Thomas F. Timmins, which will tow the Deutschland. This is in large sacks, possibly 100 of them. With her bunkers full and this additional supply the Timmins could stand by the under-sea boat for several days.

The Deutschland continued her tests today behind the barricade of barges that is augmented by screens of burlap to prevent even the briefest peep at the green hulk. The waters outside her slip were covered with oil thrown off in her submerging operations.

Those on board the interned North German Lloyd steamer Neckar on the other side of the Deutschland's slip evidently were having a good time tonight. The vessel was brilliantly lighted and strains of lively music floated over the water.

SUSPICIOUS CRAFT PROVES TO BE NORWEGIAN STEAMER

New York, July 27.—After persistent reports had been circulated here for two days that the German submarine merchantman Bremen had arrived off Sandy Hook, some excitement was caused tonight by the appearance in the lower bay of a small vessel of low visibility.

The craft which, when first seen, was lying so low in the water it was barely discernible, was the Norwegian tramp steamer Alderney from Bombay. The darkness, coupled with the fact that the British ship Adriatic closely followed, caused many persons along the shore to think it was the Bremen.

SUCCESS IN TREATMENT OF INFANTILE PARALYSIS CASES.

Dr. Meltzer's Remedy Completely Drives Away Symptoms in 35 Cases.

New York, July 27.—Marked success has attended the treatment of 50 infantile paralysis patients with intra-spinal injections of adrenalin, the remedy recently suggested by Dr. S. J. Meltzer, according to a report to the health department today by Dr. Edward J. Bermingham. In 35 cases, the report says, the symptoms completely subsided, while the other 15 infants are said to be speedily recovering.

"We feel that Dr. Meltzer's theory has been sustained," Dr. Bermingham said. "We will not say proven, because 50 cases cannot prove such an important matter."

GUARDSMEN DISCHARGED WILL HAVE TO PAY FARE HOME

No Compensation Allowed Under War Department Regulations.

New York, July 27.—Guardsmen at the border discharged because of the necessity of supporting dependent relatives, will have to pay their own expenses home. This was announced today at the headquarters of the Department of the East, where it was said many letters had been received from soldiers appealing for such discharge, indicating expectation that their fare home would be paid by the government. It was explained that under War Department regulations this compensation would could not be allowed.

STATE FLOOD RELIEF FUND NOW APPROACHING $20,000.

Lacked Only $400 of Reaching That Figure Last Night.

Raleigh, N. C., July 27.—The fund for the relief of the flood sufferers in Western North Carolina tonight came within $400 of reaching $20,000 in contributions made through the State Relief Committee. Telegrams tonight to Chairman Edward E. Britton, of the State Relief Committee, told of further contributions mailed. Governor Craig is now on his way from Asheville and is expected here Friday or Saturday.

EVIDENCE OF SUICIDE.

Boston, Mass., July 27.—Evidence that Cecelia P. Adams committed suicide as affirmed by Dr. Elridge D. Atwood, who is charged with the murder of Dr. Wilfred E. Harris, came into possession of the district attorney today. A hand bag removed from the young woman's office was found to contain a phial in which tablets of the poison which the medical examiner decided had caused her death.

PRESIDENT NAMES FARM LOAN BOARD

Division of Country Into Land Bank Districts and Locating Banks Soon to Begin.

MAY REQUIRE SIX MONTHS

Secretary McAdoo Says it is Possible That the System Might Not Be Put in Operation Before the Coming Spring.

Washington, July 27.—Division of the country into the 12 Federal Land bank districts and location of Federal Land banks in each of them under the new rural credits law will be undertaken soon by the Federal Farm Loan Board, four of whose members were nominated today by President Wilson. Secretary McAdoo, who, as an ex-officio member completes the board, said tonight, however, that he believed it would be impossible to conclude organization of the system in less than six months and that it might not be in actual operation before next spring.

Members Nominated.

The four men nominated today as members of the board are Charles E. Lobdell, of Kansas; George W. Norris, of Pennsylvania; W. S. A. Smith, of Iowa, and Herbert Quick, of West Virginia. The President is expected to designate either Mr. Norris or Mr. Quick, the Democratitc members of the board, to act as farm loan commissioner and executive head of the farm loan system.

Until the Senate acts on the nominations no date for a meeting can be set but it was believed probable tonight that the members would get together within two weeks. Hearings on the designation of districts and the location of banks probably will begin some time in September. The first of these is expected to be held here, and most of the State capitals probably will be visited before they are concluded. That will require several months and other technical steps provided in the act preliminary to actual organization of the banks probably will prevent operation of the system before February or March.

Have to Collect Facts.

Although in making his selections the President named a lawyer, a banker, a farmer and economist, it was pointed out tonight that the board would have little to go on in framing its decisions. The vast amount of information collected by the reserve bank organization committee two years ago in aligning the Federal Reserve districts and designating the Federal reserve bank centers will be virtually valueless to the new board. That committee paid particular attention to the flow of commerce and the channels of trade and to information from bankers and gave little little heed to the farmer.

About the only direct provision in the new law is that the 12 Federal Land bank districts shall be apportioned with "due regard to the farm loan needs of the country" and that state lines shall not be broken in defining districts.

Banks Near Farming Centers.

It was said tonight, however, that the board in locating the banks would consider first cities which are near farming centers, regardless of size or other banking facilities, and that cities which were candidates for Federal Reserve banks but failed to get them, probably would be strongly considered for Federal land banks.

Requests for loans on farm lands under the law already have been filed in large numbers in the Treasury Department.

KITCHIN PROTESTS IN BEHALF SMALL BANKS

Declares Burleson's Order "Revolutionary and Unjustified."

Says Collection of Checks by Postmasters Will Cut Off Most of the Profits of Six Thousand State Banks.

Washington, July 27. — Postmaster General Burleson's recent order directing postmasters in small towns to collect checks without expecting charges from state banks, not members of the reserve system, is characterized as the "most revolutionary and unjustified by any department of this government" in a formal statement issued today by Representative Kitchin, Democratic leader of the House.

Mr. Kitchin protested against the order to Mr. Burleson and the Federal Reserve Board, and in his statement, counselled state banks to evade it by printing on all checks "payable in New York exchange at current rates."

Mr. Kitchin said the order would cut off most of the profits of 6,000 small state banks which are not members of and cannot enter the reserve system. "If the order stands," he declared, "North Carolina will go Republican by 25,000."

Mr. Burleson's order was suggested by Secretary McAdoo and based on a Reserve Board resolution. It provides for check collection from non-member banks in communities where there is no member to perform the service, and was designed to perfect the universal check clearing system recently inaugurated by the Reserve Board.

VISIT OF BRITISH CRUISER DENIED

LIBRARY OF CONGRESS WASHINGTON, D. C.

SAYS ORDERS ARE OBEYED

State Department Informed British Ships Have Strict Orders Not to Cross Three-Mile Limit for Any Purpose.

Washington, July 27. — Sir Cecil Spring-Rice, the British ambassador, informed Acting Secretary Polk today that he had received a message from the admiral commanding the British squadron on the Atlantic coast denying that a British warship had entered Chesapeake Bay, as reported by the commander of the battleship Louisiana.

The ambassador said the British ships had strict orders not to enter the three-mile limit of American territorial waters to waylay the German submarine Deutschland, or for any other purpose, and the admiral had reported that these instruction had not been violated at any time.

OFFICERS OF THE LOUISIANA STICK TO THEIR FIRST STORY.

Norfolk, Va., July 27.—Sir Cecil Spring-Rice's official denial that a British cruiser recently had visited Chesapeake Bay, as reported by officers of the United States warship Louisiana, was received in silence by them today. They declined to discuss the statement, holding that it was improper that they should do so.

From other sources, however, it was learned that there was no disposition on the part of any of the men on the Louisiana who originally averred they saw a ship which signalled that it was an "English cruiser," to change their stories. On at least two points, that the unidentified ship had the general outlines of a cruiser and that she signalled she was one, at least five of them will agree, it is said. Some of the other three are understood to insist that they saw certain other details about the ship which convince them that she was a man-of-war.

Perplexing Mystery.

The most perplexing problem now confronting government officials who are investigating the incident is to establish the identity of the mystery ship if she was not an English cruiser as officially denied.

That she was a warship is obvious from the signals and lights she displayed, it is insisted, and government officials thus far have been unable to ascertain that any warship save the United States collier Neptune was in the capes at the time the signals were said to have been seen. Suggestions that the Neptune displayed the signals as a joke, which have been made, were at once discarded on the theory that no warship would be guilty of such a serious act at this time with the capes hugged by foreign warships. Persons on the Louisiana also have said that they saw and recognized the Neptune nearby shortly after the unidentified ship passed.

Was Not Brazilian Ship.

Captain Soares, of a Brazilian merchant ship, Tibagy, the only other vessel besides the Neptune known to have been near the Louisiana during the early hours of Tuesday morning gave Collector Hamilton information today which apparently eliminated all possibility of her having been mistaken for a cruiser. The Tibagy neither signalled any ship nor carried lights or signals similar to those of a warship.

DETENTION OF KELLEY IS CAUSE OF INQUIRY

Ambassador Page Instructed to Ask for Explanation.

Ambassador Spring-Rice Also to Take Up Question With British Government—President Receives Flood of Protests.

Washington, July 27.—Ambassador Page, at London, has been instructed to inquire of the British government the cause of detention at Liverpool of Eugene Hughes Kelly, of New York, treasurer of the Irish Relief fund; Mrs. Kely and Joseph Smith. The ambassador also was directed to do everything possible in behalf of the Americans who have been denied permission to remain in England or travel to Dublin.

Similar representations probably will be made on behalf of S. S. McClure, the New York publisher, who has been ordered to leave England as soon as the State Department receives an official report on the incident.

Sir Cecil Spring-Rice, the British ambassador, told Acting Secretary Polk today that he also would take up with his foreign office the detention of Kelly and his companion.

The ambassador will inform his government of the charitable object of this visit, which Mr. Kelly fully and personally explained at the embassy before sailing.

A flood of telegrams and letters protesting against the detentions have been received at the White House and the State Department. President Wilson received a telegram from John D.

VIRTUALLY SEVEN HUNDRED MILLIONS FOR PREPAREDNESS

Aggregate of Proposed Appropriations in Bills Which Have Gone Through Senate.

THE ARMY BILL IS PASSED

Will Follow Naval Bill Into Conference Where Reductions Are Very Probable.

Washington, July 27.—Nearly seven hundred millions for national defense in the fiscal year 1917 is the aggregate of proposed appropriations reached in the Senate today with passage of the Army Appropriation bill, carrying in round numbers $314,000,000.

This grand total for preparedness still is subject to revision, however, because the army bill will follow the naval bill into conference where reductions are probable despite the firm attitude of President Wilson in supporting the liberal response of the Senate to the call for adequate defense.

Appropriations for Preparedness.

The appropriations for preparedness as they stand are as follows: Army $313,970,447.10; navy $315,826,843.55; fortifications (law) $25,748,050; Military Academy $2,238,328.57; army and navy deficiency $27,559,348.05. Total, $685,343,017.27.

Increases in Army Bill.

As it passed the Senate the Army bill exceeded the appropriations made by the House by more than $131,000,000.

In the final hours of debate on the measure, the Senate agreed to an appropriation of $2,000,000 for relief of dependent families of National Guardsmen and regular army soldiers in service in the Mexican emergency. Distribution of the fund is left to the discretion of the Secretary of War, but in no case shall army family receive more than $50,000 a month.

An amendment agreed to yesterday giving soldiers on the border the right to vote in the field at the November elections was eliminated from the bill on a point of order just before passage.

As soon as the army bill was out of the way, the Senate took up and passed after brief debate the Military Academy appropriation bill, carrying $2,238,328. 57, an increase of $1,019,524 over the House authorization.

In the main, the Senate approved the Military committee's increase over House appropriations in the army bill although there were a few reductions in the committee recommendations due to improvement in the Mexican situation. Among the big appropriations with comparative totals as carried in the House and Senate bills are the following:

Comparison of Bills.

	House Bill.	Senate Bil.
Aviation	$ 3,775,000	$13,281,000

Arm. motor cars.	300,000	1,000,000
Field artillery and ammuni.	16,000,000	28,400,000

Among the legislative provisions included in the appropriation bill are:

National Defense Council.

Creation of a council of national defense for the co-ordination of industries and resources for the national security and welfare, to consist of the secretaries of State, War and Navy, chief of staff of the army, an officer of the navy and six civilians, to be appointed by the President, who shall have special knowledge of some natural resources. Civilian members would serve without compensation except for expenses incurred.

Ten per cent. increase in pay for officers of regular army and National Guard and 20 per cent. for enlisted men in actual service in the Mexican campaign or on border duty.

WORST HEAT WAVE IN FIFTEEN YEARS

IS SWEEPING THE COUNTRY

A "Bermuda High" Given as the Official Cause for the Intense High Pressure of Air and the Heavy Humidity.

Washington, July 27. — A "Bermuda high" is the official cause of the worst heat wave that has enveloped the country in fifteen years. Translated from the cryptic language of the weather sharps, that means a great area of high pressure air has been mobilizing on the weather drill grounds in the Atlantic off Bermuda for the last month, and now has let go the full power of its offensive from the seaboard to the Rocky mountains.

For weeks it has stood like a solid wall against heated currents trying vainly to move out from the interior over the ocean, and now as it swirls rapidly along it is gathering heat and moisture from the tropic and sweeping them northward over the continent into teh vacuum of so-called "low pressure" areas." Although its greatest intensity has not yet struck the Pacific coast, it is expected to do so within the next few days.

No relief is promised from the phenomenon which in the east has caused sweltering city dwellers to light fires in their homes to dry out the humidity, or which, in the Missouri valley is threatening to destroy millions of dollars' worth of food crops. Chief Forecaster Frankenfield said today that the heat wave only had begun.

"It is certain to continue through the week, and probably longer. None of the conditions essential to a break-up are evident. The relief which often comes from the northwest is nowhere in sight."

During all this month, Forecaster Frankenfield says, the huge body of high pressure atmosphere has been gathering over the western Atlantic, from Florida to New Foundland, and east to the Azores.

It is very heavy in weight and thick in dimensions. Heavy air always flows to a place occupied by light air, but unfortunately there is at present an area of light air in the tropics. When the heavy air arrives there it finds there is still lighter air over the continent. So it moves north in an enormous sweep, burning hot from the tropics, and heavily laden with sea-borne humidity. It is distributing this heat and humidity over all the continental United States in what officials call the "Bermuda high." The air in the Middle West is becoming heavier, and it may form a focal center where the air currents will clash in a series of thunder storms, affording speedy relief through a readjustment of the areas of high pressure.

HUMIDITY IN NEW YORK THE HIGHEST SINCE 1896.

New York, July 27.—A combination of heat and excessive humidity enveloped New York today in the atmosphere of a Turkish bath. Only once, in July, 1896, has the humidity been higher than the record reached today—88.

The thermometer and the hydrometer moved upward together, the former registering 85. The humidity record was the culmination of a fortnight of similar weather that has caused New

PROSPECTS OF EARLY AGREEMENT BRIGHTER

Acting Secretary Polk and Ambassador Arredondo Nearer in Accord on Several Points Regarding Commission.

Washington, July 27.—Prospects of an early agreement between the American and Mexican governments to submit the border disagreements to a joint commission were declared as brighter today after Acting Secretary Polk again conferred with Eliseo Arredondo, General Carranza's ambassador. The conferees found themselves closer to agreement on the several points which have delayed formal announcement that General Carranza's suggestion for a commission would be accepted. The Washington government wants to widen the scope of the commission's investigation beyond General Carranza's suggestion that it discuss withdrawal of American troops; measures to protect American border interests from bandits, and the origin of raids.

Discussion of the administration's Mexican policy cropped out again today in the Senate. Senator Lippett, of Rhode Island, attacked President Wilson's course in a prepared speech which included a detailed review of relations with Mexico since the overthrow of Madero and drew replies from several Democratic Senators.

"The President boastfully proclaims what he can and will do one minute," declared Senator Lippett, "and threat-

PARADE IS CLOSING EVENT OF REUNION

THOUSANDS OF SPECTATORS

Gen. J. I. Metts and Staff Review Parade From City Hall—Many of Visitors Leave for Homes After Enjoyable Stay.

Four hundred Confederate Veterans participated in the big parade through the principal streets of Wilmington yesterday morning in the closing event of the North Carolina reunion of 1916 while thousands of people cheered them and waved the Stars and Bars as a token of their respect for those who in war fought for their country and in place have lived as noble citizens of a commonwealth that stands for justice and right.

In the parade beside the veterans were the Wilmington Light Infantry, the Daughters of the Confederacy, a detachment of sailors from the coast guard cutter Seminole, and the Wilmington police and firemen. General James I. Metts, commander of the State Division, and his staff, after marching with the parade reviewed it from the steps of the City Hall while hundreds of children sang "Dixie" and other patriotic airs.

Many Reunions Yet.

The reunion of 1916 will go down as one of the most successful of the many that have been held during the past 50 years. Those who had thought it might be the last are now sure that there will be many more for the spirit that kept the Southern armies to the front for four long years is not yet dead and the spirit of devotion to the cause of the Confederacy will not die so long as there lives a Confederate soldier. With 400 visiting veterans in Wilmington in spite of very unfavorable weather conditions and a lack of transportation facilities, it is certain that when the "Boys in Gray" meet in Durham next year they will have an even larger number.

While the lodging and board were furnished to all who desired it last night, many of the veterans left for their homes yesterday afternoon. The hospitality for which Wilmington has been long noted has not been lacking on this occasion and her citizens have delighted to honor the veterans. Every effort has been made to see that they were cared for and made comfortable.

The visiting veterans have spoken most kindly of the fine entertainment given them and while the weather on Wednesday was not very favorable, the bright sunshine yesterday made it very much more pleasant. The reunions after all are made most pleasant for the veterans because it gives them an opportunity to renew old acquaintances.

Order of Parade.

The procession which moved from Fifth and Market streets promptly at 10 o'clock was headed by Chief Marshal E. A. Metts and his aides mounted, followed by a platoon of Wilmington policemen in charge of Sergeant J. S. Lane. Next came a detachment of sailors from the coast guard cutter Seminole in command of Lieut. E. R. Smith followed by the Wilmington Light Infantry in command of Capt. E. P. Bailey. General Metts and his chief of staff, Col. H. A. London, both of whom were mounted, headed the procession of veterans, 50 or more of whom marched while 300 or more were in automobiles, headed by the matrons of honor, spon-

DELVILLE WOOD TAKEN AFTER FIERCE ATTACK

Three Shells a Minute to Every Yard Possibly Used.

British Intended to Leave Nothing Standing and Nothing Living in a Given Area Which Was Under Bombardment.

With the British Army in the Field, July 27, (via London, July 28.)—The British went after Delville Wood again today and took it. The Germans had been quiet because the British made no infantry attack, but all the while the machine guns were rattling and the artillery kept up a drum beat.

This morning the British put on Delville Wood the heaviest concentration of shell fire in a given area ever directed against field fortifications. There must have been three shells a minute falling on every yard. The purpose was to leave nothing standing, nothing living. Not a single German sniper in a tree, not a single German machine gun but was to be put out of business by the tornado of blasts.

Snipers and machine guns watch for any head that shows itself. Patrols which go out in the night engage in hand-to-hand encounters.

The British had nearly all the Delville Wood after the advance of July 14, but the Germans used an envilad machine gun on them and took possession of the middle of the wood and of the British dead who had fought to the last man. But the British kept the southern end of the wood and the adjoining village of Longueval. Before the infantry charge had finished they had taken all except about an acre of the north end.

RUSSIANS IN THE SLONEVKA REGION FURTHER ADVANCE

FLEEING TURKS PURSUED

Hard Fighting Has Again Commenced Between British and Germans in Somme Region.

Hard fighting has commenced again between the British and the Germans in the Somme region of France near Pozieres around Longueval and in the Delville Wood.

The British in the fighting Wednesday night captured an important German trench situated to the north of the line running from Pozieres to Bazentin Le Petit but were shelled out of it Thursday morning by an enfilading fire from the German artillery. Another attack, however, gave the British a foothold in the southern end of the trench.

To the south of the Somme the French made further progress against the Teutons to the east of Estrees. In Champagne the Germans raided French trenches near Prosnes, but later were driven out in a counter attack. Bombardments are in progress on various sectors around Verdun.

Further advances for the Russian troops in the Slonevka river region on the eastern front are chronicled by Petrograd. Vienna admits the falling back of the Austrians south of Lesz-niow, near Brody, in the face of superior forces of the Russians and that northeast of Brody the Russians gained insignificant advantages in violent attacks in which the attackers suffered extraordinarily heavy casualties. In the north considerable fighting continues between the Germans and Russians, but no important changes in territory have resulted.

In the Caucasus region the Russians are reported from Petrograd to be still on the heels of the Turks retreating from Erzingan.

Bombardments by the Austrian artillery in the Asiago basin, along the Isonzo front and against other Italian positions in the Austro-Italian theatre are reported by Rome.

COMPARATIVE LULL NOW ON THE BRITISH FRONT.

London, July 28. — Since the completion of the capture of Pozieres, the news from the British front in France is mainly of artillery actions and testing encounters at various points on the German line. The comparative lull and hot, hazy weather, it is assumed, have given the Germans an opportunity to bring up further troops and guns with a view to renewed attempts to recapture Pozieres, where, however, according to unofficial reports, the British troops have further consolidated their positions.

Tonight's official report shows that there has been hard fighting all day, with some fluctuations of fourtune, but that in the end the British have improved their positions northeast of Pozieres, and in the vicinity of Longueval, and in Delville wood.

There is much comment in the European capital on the effect that the loss of the last great Turkish fortress in Armenia, from which province the Turks are said to be fleeing owing to exhaustion of their ammunition supplies, is likely to have in Constantinople and also as to the influence thie defeat, conjoined with the success of the Russians toward Brody in opening the road to Lemberg, will have in Greece and Rumania.

The Associated Press correspondent at Athens learns that there is no longer any likelihood of an attack on the Entente allied forces at Saloniki.

The Russian war minister, according to an interview in the Russky Slovo, desires to dispel the illusion that the war can end in autumn. He admits that the German technique is so high that Germany can still offer a long resistance.

RUSSIAN TROOPS COVERED HUNDRED MILES IN A WEEK

Petrograd, (via London), July 27.—Russian troops covered a hundred miles in their advance on Erzingen within a week. The capture of that city means the virtual completion of the Russian occupation of Turkish Armenia and gives Russia the benefit of the extremely fertile valley and opens an easy means of communication through Trebizond for the western and southern Caucasian armies.

It is estimated that the Turks had between 25 and 30 divisions between the Black Sea and Mush—approximately 350,000 men.

MUST RESERVE ALL FOOD FOR THE CIVIL POPULATION

If Imports Are to Be Allowed, England's Enemies Must Receive Nothing.

London, July 28.—Walter Hines Page, the American ambassador, has cabled to the State Department at Washington the text of a letter from the foreign office regarding the feeding of the civilian populations in territory occupied by the Germans.

Louisville, Ky., July 27.—Owner O. P. Watson, of the Louisville Association team, announced today, the purchase from the New York Nationals of Wade Killifer, outfielder, who with Charles Herzog, figured in the recent deal by which Christy Mathewson was sent to Cincinnati. Mr. Watson said the deal was a cash transaction. He refused to state the amount involved.

PROTEST IS MADE AGAINST BLACKLIST

TONE SAID TO BE POSITIVE

Understood to Leave No Doubt Regarding United States Government's Attitude—Text May be Made Public Monday.

Washington, July 27.—American Ambassador Page will present to the British foreign office probably tomorrow a formal note protesting against the blacklisting of American business firms, under the trading with the enemy act. In announcing today that the communication had been transmitted to London, Acting Secretary Polk said it discussed only the general principles of international law involved without specifically taking up cases of individual firms black listed.

The note, officially described at the department as a "protest," is said authoritatively to be positive in tenor and to leave no doubt regarding this government's attitude.

It is about 1,000 words in length. Present plans are to make it public next Monday.

It is understood this government's view that illegal restrictions are imposed by the black list order upon freedom of American trade is set forth in vigorous terms. Some modifications of the order, it is believed, is insisted upon. There have been indications that should diplomatic efforts fail to bring relief affecting American firms some form of retaliation would be considered by the United States.

After promulgation of the trading with the enemy act last January the State Department notified the British government of its view that possibilities of "undue interference" with American commerce were contained in the instrument. The potential rather than the actual injury so far accomplished is understood to be given stress also in the note sent yesterday.

Individual cases of black listed firms it is expected will be taken with personal conversations here and at London.

KINSTON COLORED PEOPLE HELP WITH RELIEF FUND

Kinston, N. C., July 27.—At the suggestion of a cashier in a South Kinston negro bank, a mass meeting of the local colored population will be held in the Tower Hill road school Sunday afternoon to raise a fund to be turned over to the State committee for the relief of the West Carolina flood sufferers. Practically every colored preacher and professional man in the city has promised support of the movement. The donors will make a request that the fund be employed in feeding and clothing negro flood victims, possibly, although there is some opposition to that by colored men who believe it should be used in any way the State committee sees fit. Special collections will be taken in all the colored churches preceding the mass meeting.

Reach Wilmington This Week?

Sampson Democrat, Clinton. "The information which the Democrat gets from the party engaged in surveying the Wilmington-Fayetteville highway is that the engineers hope to reach Wilmington the latter part of this week. When the survey to Wilmington is completed the party will come back to Clinton by rail and start from here over one of the proposed routes to Fayetteville. The party has had considerable interference by the rains which have fallen since the survey was begun."

Greenville, N. C., July 27. — In response to a call by Mayor Dunn, quite a number of citizens met in the court house last night and got busy about aiding the sufferers by the flood waters in Western Carolina. Today a canvass is being made of the city for subscriptions to the fund. It was not doubted that $500 would be subscribed today and more later. It will be forwarded at once.

FURTHER DAMAGE BY RAIN HARDLY EXPECTED

Worst Seems Past in Eastern North Carolina.

Fair Weather Yesterday, Following Week of Rains, Renders Prospects Less Gloomy—Crop Damage General.

No further reports of damage by swollen streams in Eastern North Carolina were received yesterday, and, the rains having ceased after a week of daily showers, some of them torrential in places, it is believed that the worst is past, so far as damage to bridges, roads, etc., is concerned. Damage to crops, especially cotton and tobacco, seems to have been general throughout the eastern section of the State, estimates ranging from 5 to 25 per cent. The sunshine following a week's cloudiness is expected to cause cotton to wilt.

The crest of the high water in the Cape Fear river had passed Fayetteville yesterday, the record there yesterday morning showing a stage of a fraction over 34 feet, while more than 35 feet was recorded Wednesday. The water was slowly falling yesterday.

CROPS BADLY DAMAGED IN DUPLIN AND BRIDGES GONE

Warsaw, N. C., July 27.—A conservative estimate of the damage to crops in this section by the recent rains would place the damage to cotton at 25 per cent, and to tobacco at 30 per cent. Cotton had been damaged to a great extent by the cold, rainy weather of early spring, so the crop will be cut short fully 50 per cent. Tobacco is being wilted by the hot sunshine of today, the first that has appeared for any length for about a week.

Two bridges of the county have been washed away. The Northeast river is impassable, and witnesses residing beyond it are unable to attend court now in session at Kenansville.

Many of the roads are filled with washouts, making it impossible to drive cars over them. Walter Bridges, a rural mail carrier, with his horse, narrowly escaped drowning in a washout on a road a few miles from town. There is a bad washout in the road near the A. C. L. water tank, three miles from town.

NO FLOOD DAMAGE IN NEUSE RIVER VALLEY IN PROSPECT

Kinston, N. C., July 27.—With bright weather over this part of the State, a flood locally was not imminent today, although Neuse river here continued to rise slowly. Last night the stream rose four inches in 12 hours. Today the increase was almost imperceptible. A statement by the local weather observer, however, intimated that the stream might go over its south banks here when freshets about due arrive.

A report from the south says four routes over the Northeast river are closed by bridges being afloat. At least one bridge over Moccasin river is down. Floatage lodging against the Caswell street bridge over the Neuse here was removed today to prevent possible damage to the structure.

COTTON SERIOUSLY DAMAGED IN VICINITY OF MAXTON

Maxton, N. C., July 26.—Cotton crops in this section are damaged almost beyond estimate judging from the prospects we have to base on at this time. Corn has also been badly damaged. Melons and cantaloupes have been moving the past week or so, and were bringing fair prices until the past few days. Those crops which follow the melons should do well, and there will be many an acre in peavines this fall, which will place our section where they will not have to buy western hay next year. Very little hay was shipped to this section this season. The same applies to grains.

RAINFALL AT SOUTHPORT NOT HALF THAT IN WILMINGTON

Southport, N. C., July 27.—In decided variance with other sections of this State, this locality has been immune from the destruction of the elements. In the matter of rainfall, as recorded here, so far this month, has been 4.28 inches, almost nothing as compared with so many places where a single 24 hours has had an equal or greater precipitation. In some low sections of this portion of the county, there has been a little damage to crops. There was more damage done by the high winds several weeks ago, than from recent rains.

A. C. L. IN NORFOLK

Virginian-Pilot Says Road Will Build Passenger Terminal There.

The following from yesterday's Norfolk Virginian-Pilot will be read with interest by the traveling public and by others along the Atlantic Coast Line:

"That the Atlantic Coast Line Railway will either build a modern terminal passenger station on the property recently purchased at the west end of York street or greatly improve the present station at the foot of Jackson street is assured. At a conference of officials of the Atlantic Coast Line, the Seaboard Air Line and the Southern railways, with committees of Norfolk and Portsmouth business men and a delegation of citizens from Pinner's Point and Port Norfolk, the proposition of the Atlantic Coast Line and the Southern railroads entering the Seaboard station at Portsmouth and transferring passengers to Norfolk by special ferry was rejected. The conference was held in the offices of President W. J. Harahan of the Seaboard Air Line.

"Mr. Kenly stated yesterday afternoon that the Atlantic Coast Line would formulate plans immediately either to improve the present passenger terminals at the foot of Jackson street or to establish passenger terminals on the property recently purchased for the Atlantic Coast Line at the west end of York street. He said that he would submit the plans to the Norfolk committee as soon as possible."

WILMINGTON LADY IS NOW ABLE TO EAT BREAKFASTS

J. F. Hardison Is Happy For It and Joins Large Local Chorus In Giving Praise to Tanlac.

Mrs. J. F. Hardison, residing at 318 Wooster street, has gained so rapidly through the use of Tanlac, that her husband refuses to entertain even the smallest amount of hesitancy in voicing his sentiments in chorus with numberless other Wilmington folks, as to the superlative merits of Tanlac as the ideal reconstructive tonic.

"Yes, sir," he exclaimed to the Tanlac Man, "Tanlac has done more for Mrs. Hardison than physicians and other treatments combined. Just think of it, my wife now eats as hearty a breakfast as I do. To get the full weight of this you must consider that until she started on Tanlac she wouldn't eat a mouthful of food.

"Acute indigestion was responsible for her lost appetite and this malady, together with malarial fever, had her in a run-down condition. It took all she could do for her to get through the day's housework. Severe pains would grip her in the stomach, and she complained of feeling tired out a good deal.

"And, from just one bottle of Tanlac, her condition has taken on a decided change for the better. Now she can eat anything and her sleep is sound. Her strength has improved and all in all she is feeling better than for months. Hope that this story may help others enjoy the same comfort is why I offer it, for I know what Tanlac can do."

This ideal reconstructive tonic-appetizer, blood and system purifier, invigorant and health restorer is sold in Wilmington only at the Bellamy Drug Store, where the Tanlac Man explains its merits to men and women; Watson's Pharmacy, Southport; C. L. Halstead, Burgaw; A. N. Rhodes & Co., Rocky Point; G. W. Kirby, Supply; Bradham Drug Co., New Bern; C. L. Southall, Magnolia. Each town has its Tanlac druggist.

Mr. W. K. Baldwin, of Gastonia, arrested yesterday morning by Deputy Sheriff J. M. Branch on warrants charging him with enticing laborers from the Bellwill Cotton Mill, was required yesterday afternoon to give bond in the sum of $200 for his appearance this morning at 11 o'clock before Justice Harriss. Baldwin was arrested on a warrant sworn out before Justice G. W. Bornemann by W. M. Bellamy, Esq. Three other warrants were sworn out before Justice George Harriss by Mr. J. Walter Williamson.

It is alleged in the warrants that Mr. Baldwin has sought to entice laborers away from the Wilmington factory by offering them increased wages. Mr. Baldwin made no statement but retained L. Clayton Grant, Esq., as attorney to look after his interests.

Three Warships Are Guarding Beaufort?

RUMOR THAT BREMEN IS TO PUT INTO NEW BERN NOT GIVEN MUCH CREDENCE—MIGHT ENTER HARBOR.

(Special Star Telegram.)

New Bern, N. C., July 27.—Regardless of the fact that rumors here and at other points persistently declare that the German submarine Bremen is to put in at Beaufort or Morehead City, the vessel has failed to arrive. Three warships hovered off Beaufort Inlet all during the day and it is believed that they have a pretty sure tip that the Bremen is endeavoring to get in there.

The Bremen could easily come in past Cape Lookout and on to the harbor of refuge. From that point she could get to Morehead City, there being 21 feet of water in the channel.

From New York this afternoon came a tip that the Bremen would come on up through the Inland Waterway canal and to New Bern, and a watch is also being maintained for the boat here. However, it is hardly probable, say local men who are familiar with boats, that the Bremen would risk coming up Neuse river unless she is of light draught.

TWO CRUISERS SIGHTED OFF BEAUFORT HAVE DEPARTED

Beaufort, N. C., July 27.—The two cruisers reported off this harbor last night and sighted today about 15 miles out, departed after several hours vigil. The cruisers presumably were British though no craft got near enough to them to ascertain definitely. The port officer has instructed all seamen entering this harbor to keep a sharp lookout for any extraordinary craft.

DANGER OF PARATYPHOID

Health Officer Issues Warning Regarding Purchase of Meats.

In an effort to prevent the spreading of paratyphoid in the city Dr. Charles T. Nesbitt, county health officer, yesterday issued another warning to citizens to use the utmost precaution in the purchase of meats. Wilmington's third case of this disease within the past ten days has been confirmed by a laboratory diagnosis, and co-operation of all citizens is absolutely necessary in order to prevent its spreading.

Paratyphoid is especially dangerous in damp warm weather and for this reason Dr. Nesbitt's warning is doubly important.

New Issue $100,000 Stonehaven Hotel Company

FAYETTEVILLE, N. C.

First Mortgage, 6% Coupon Gold Bonds Dated April 1st, 1916, and Due $5,000 per Year Beginning 1921. Interest Due April 1st and October 1st, and Payable at Cumberland Savings & Trust Co., Fayetteville, N. C.

Capital Stock, $100,000.00
THE NATIONAL BANK
United States Depository.

Fayetteville, N. C., May 4th, 1916.

I am pleased to say that I regard the Bonds of a $100,000.00 Bond Issue on the property of the Stonehaven Hotel Co. in this city as good in every respect. I am entirely familiar with this property and know its value. It consists of a business block on the Main Street of this city, 150' in frontage and extends through to the nevt street, a distance of 330'. This makes it a corner property and it has three street frontages. On the front of this property is a four-story brick building. This is a modern building and on the ground floor are six or seven retail stores which are rented for as much as $6,000.00 per year. The upper floors of this building are a modern hotel. This entire property is well located and will always be valuable. It is constantly increasing in value. I wish also to state that the other two street frontages of the property face the principal cotton district of our city and are very valuable for wholesale and warehouse purposes.

I regard the property as worth twice the Bond Issue and I am glad to say that I think an issue of $100,000.00 (One Hundred Thousand Dollars) upon this property as good in every respect.

Yours very truly,
S. W. COOPER.

The Stonehaven Hotel Co. owns at Fayetteville, N. C., a business block and modern hotel worth $200,000.00. The stores in the property are retail stores on one of the principal streets and are under leases to long standing tenants at a rental of more than $6,000 per year. The hotel itself has been for several years, and now is, under the operation and management of Mr. J. P. Sanders, of Greensboro and Charlotte, N. C., who is the president of the Stonehaven Hotel Co., and, who for many years, has successfully operated the Stonewall Hotel at Charlotte, the Yadkin Hotel at Salisbury, and other hotels in North Carolina.

Beginning October 1st, the hotel at Fayetteville will be leased to one of his companies at a rental of $9,000.00 per year, exclusive of the other leases of $6,000.00 per year referred to above, and will continue as heretofore under his personal management. The rental of the entire property as now computed, and is then fixed by leases, will be more than $15,000.00 per year, and after all insurance, taxes and other expenses are paid, the net rental of the property will be more than twice the interest on this entire issue of bonds. There is at present outstanding on the property a balance due of bonds amounting to $40,000.00 which will be retired from the sale of the new issue, a portion of which has been deposited with Chas. G. Rose, Trustee, for that purpose. Reference is made to letter published herewith from Mr. S. W. Cooper, who is president of the National Bank of Fayetteville.

Local investors in Fayetteville have just purchased $25,000.00 of these bonds. The balance amounting to $75,000.00 is offered for sale at par and interest.

This balance of $75,000.00 mature serially $5,000.00 per year beginning 1926 and are in denomination of $500.00 and $1,000.00. These bonds are now ready for delivery.

REFERENCE: NATIONAL BANK OF FAYETTEVILLE.

We recommend these bonds for investment. If interested call or wire.

If Too Fat Get More Fresh Air

BE MODERATE IN YOUR DIET AND REDUCE YOUR WEIGHT. TAKE OIL OF KOREIN.

Lack of fresh air it is said weakens the oxygen carrying power of the blood, the liver becomes sluggish, fat accumulates and the action of many of the vital organs are hindered thereby. The heart action becomes weak, work is an effort and the beauty of the figure is destroyed.

Fat put on by indoor life is unhealthy and if nature is not assisted in throwing it off, a serious case of obesity may result.

When you feel that you are getting too stout, take the matter in hand at once. Don't wait until your figure has become a joke and your health ruined through carrying around a burden of unsightly and unhealthy fat.

Spend as much time as you possibly can in the open air; breathe deeply, and get from Elvington's Pharmacy or any druggist a box of oil of korein capsules; take one after each meal and one before retiring at night.

Weigh yourself every few days and keep up the treatment until you are down to normal. Oil of korein is absolutely harmless, is pleasant to take, helps the digestion and even a few days treatment has been reported to show a noticeable reduction in weight.

JOHN W. GULLEDGE IS UNDER BOND PENDING HIS APPEAL

(Special Star Correspnodence.)

Wadesboro, N. C., July 27.—The trial, conviction and sentencing of John W. Gulledge, Esq., in the Superior Court, at Rockingham, this week, has furnished and is furnishing a topic of discussion for the people of this section, in which there are more varied opinions than in any case that has been heard since "the lynchers' trial," when a number of prominent Ansonians were put on trial in Union county for participating in a lynching.

Gulledge was president of the Southern Savings Bank of this place at the time it went into bankruptcy in the fall of 1914. The total assets of this institution was around $118,000 and the records show that about $70,000 of these funds had been borrowed by Mr. Gulledge and his immediate associates. After investigations of the affairs of the defunct bank the grand jury of Anson county presented indictments against John W. Gulledge, its president, charging embezzlement, false pretence, fraud and conspiracy. When the cases came up for hearing in Anson Superior court, the defendant moved for a change of venue, which was granted to the July term of Rishmond county court.

The jury was out three hours when they returned a verdict of guilty, with recommendation for mercy. Judge Cline sentenced the defendant to 18 months on the public roads and a motion for appeal was made by the defendant, who gave bond pending the appeal.

The bank involved in this trial was the depository of a large number of women and children, who maintained savings accounts there and naturally the sentiment in Anson county would be strong for the punishment of those who were guilty of causing them a loss. There is an element of sentiment here that Gulledge meant no wrong in any of his transactions with the bank's funds, but that he used poor judgment, others think he tried to take advantage of the unusual opportunity offered by the prosperous time just prior to the breaking out of the European war and still others express the opinion that he is guilty as charged in the several indictments. The prevailing sentiment today is that the cases against him have taken the proper course and that the ends of justice will be met if the sentence is carried out as ordered by Judge Cline.

Mrs. Gulledge and Miss Margie Gulledge, wife and daughter of the defendant, were present in the court room when jury returned its verdict. They were manifestly touched by the gravity of the situation wept openly and bitterly. The defendant, himself, seemed, for the first time to realize the seriousness of the charge and the consequence of his conviction, when he showed signs of grief and remorse.

The other cases against Gulledge, one of which is a joint indictment against him and W. P. Ledbetter, who was cashier of the defunct institution, charging conspiracy, were continued until the January term.

GUARDSMEN AND WASHINGTON PRINTERS SEND IN CHECKS

Raleigh, N. C., July 27.—One of the most notable checks that came in today to the executive offices of Governor Craig for the relief of flood sufferers was that of Plate Printers' Union, No. 2, of Washington, D. C., for $100. It came through Editor R. J. Ryan, editor of Plate Printer, Washington, who wrote that the donation was sent to the governor at the suggestion of Congressman Webb.

There came today also a letter from Capt. Paul Jones, of the Second regiment, North Carolina Infantry, transmitting $80 that the men of this military organization raised in Camp Glenn for the flood sufferers.

TOP O' THE MORNING.

The secret of success consists not in making numerous resolutions about various faults and sins, but in one great absorbing, controlling purpose to serve God and do His will. If this be the controlling motive of life, all other motives will be swept into the force of its mighty current and guided aright.

—JAMES J. HILL.

One can't get all he would choose but he chews all he can get.

Some men never know when to shut up while others are never disposed to loosen up.

One way to have more confidence in others is never to judge them by what you are and what you do yourself.

A city farm is being agitated in Richmond. Probably the city needs all the attention that would be devoted to a farm.

The American party is the one which nominated Sulzer for president a few days ago. That is all we know about the American party.

Money can't buy contentment, but a jitney will sometimes pay for a considerable amount of satisfaction in the shape of a cigar that isn't mostly rope.

Another national convention of the Progressive party has been called to meet at Chicago August 5, but the Progressive party will remain at Oyster Bay and pay no attention to the convention.

A fellow says he has never known it to fail that when he wanted to have a tete a tete with some pretty girl, some guy with legs like a pair of hames came up and got the best of him with his conversation.

States which have failed to regulate child labor have forced it to become a matter of national legislation, as objectionable as that may be. The suffrage question also will take the same route for the same reason.

Upon hearing some one say that Great Britain, France, Germany, Austria, Russia and many other nations shall have been engaged in a war for two years next Tuesday, an old colored woman exclaimed: "Good Gawd, ain't dem folks neber freed dey niggers yit?"

It is now rumored that a Zeppelin airship from Germany is due in this country August 15. Prof. Rudolph A. Kratochwill, instructor of violin music at Virginia Intermont College, at Bristol, is in receipt of a letter from a brother in Germany, in which the latter states that he is coming over on a Zeppelin which is scheduled to arrive somewhere in the United States on the date named. The brother in Germany writes to the professor that when he arrives in America he will go by rail to Bristol. His letter is so matter of fact that Professor Kratochwill confidenty expects the coming of his brother by this first over-ocean flight. Well, nobody would be surprised at anything during such wonderful times as these.

Candidate Hughes really doesn't know any more than the man in the moon whether prosperity is "temporary" or permanent. He can make the most political capital by creating the idea that it isn't permanent. If it isn't permanent under the Wilson administration, nothing that Hughes can do will make it permanent. Not even the wise and mighty sage of Oyster Bay could prevent a lamentable Republican panic in 1907. The fact is, neither presidents nor parties can guarantee prosperity when it depends entirely upon economic conditions in the world. If Hughes knows any guarantee of prosperity he certainly should have told Roosevelt about it in 1907. Men who know so much, do the country injustice by not turning their wisdom loose in time.

CHANGE PRESIDENTS FOR WHAT?

A New York Republican declares that the country "wants a change of administration at Washington." That is what he thinks but he is guessing at it. We won't know what the country wants till we hear from the voters on the 7th of November.

Even if the country possibly may "want" a change, it certainly does not need it as badly as the country absolutely needed a change from Republicanism to Democracy, so it could get a flexible banking system that would act automatically in relieving financial distress in any portion of the country.

Why should New York want a change? The metropolis has become the world's financial center. Its commerce has grown to be greater than that of any other port in all the world. It strikes us that what New York would "want" is to let well enough alone.

Why should commerce "want" a change? The country has done the largest commerce in its history and the balance of trade is simply enormous. Commerce does not need a change. Why should it?

Why should manufacturing "want" a change? All the country's factories are busy and the manufacturing output of the country is the largest in the history of the United States. The iron and steel industry is amazingly prosperous and the United States Steel Corporation has paid its regular dividends and just declared an extra dividend of 1 per cent. It has unfilled orders for nearly 10,000,000 tons, and there is no let up in the prospects. The cotton milling industry is prosperous north and south, and all branches of industry are flourishing. Want a change for what?

Why should the American merchant marine want a change? It doesn't need it, for during three years of Democratic administration more ships have been built than had been constructed in a quarter of a century of Republicanism. American ships have carried more American goods than had been moved in American bottoms in fifty years. The shipyards of this country are building more ships than all the other yards of the world are building. Need a change, nothing. Why want it?

Why should agriculture "want" a change? It does not need it. The country is growing the biggest crops in its history and all kinds of products are selling at at the highest average prices ever received. Wheat, cotton and other products are selling at good prices. Agriculture does not need Hughes and certainly it does not need the Republican party. For what—a higher tariff burden, in addition to all the preparedness burden?

Why should peace want a change, when it needs at Washington the man who has assured it for this country? The people do not need war and if the country needs peace it ought to know better than to change a peace president for one not needed in that line and especially one who even opposes Wilson's peace policies.

When the whole country is doing well enough along these lines and all others, why wouldn't it want to "let well enough alone?"

Does the country just want to go crazy and make a change? What for? Can you imagine what for?

THE SOUTH'S PACKING HOUSE ERA

Not only the citizens of Wilmington but those of the various counties who have been here this week are anxious about the prospects for Wilmington's proposed packing house. One of Wilmington's Rotarians yesterday sent us a clipping from the Augusta Chronicle concerning the rapid progress made there in organizing and financing the Gergia-Carolina Packing Company. The project there has met with enthusiasm on the part of the business men of Augusta and the farmers of that thrifty city's tributary territory on the Georgia and South Carolina sides of the Savannah river. The Chronicle has published letters from at least 25 business firms and more than 100 farmers, all heartily endorsing the Augusta packing house movement.

The charter for the company has been granted and a meeting of the shareholders was held on Wednesday to accept the charter and proceed to business. An enthusiastic meeting was held and The Chronicle says the packing plant proposition has been endorsed on every hand as just what is the next necessary and vital step to promote the livestock industry. The company took out a charter for 20 years, fixing the initial capital stock at $100,000 with the privilege of increasing the stock over and above that up to $1,000,000.

The Augusta packing plant's business, as set out in the charter application is "that of buying, slaughtering, curing, packing and storing livestock and poultry; buying and selling livestock, poulty and eggs; buying, canning, preserving and selling all kinds of fruits and vegetables; buying, manufacturing and selling butter, cream, milk and cheese; curing bacon, beef, and other such like products; to have and own cold storage plants and cold storage and refrigerator cars; buying and leasing out livestock; owning and leasing and releasing lands for the purpose of raising and pasturing livestock; making loans and advances for furthering the livestock industry, and of doing a general canning and packing business, and from the by-product of said industry."

The Florida Farmer and Homeseeker urges the farmers not to overlook the fact that "Florida's packing house will open October 1, rain or shine." That packing house will be located at Jacksonville and the whole state is interested in it. It is not looked upon as merely a state affair, but as a Florida enterprise that will furnish livestock owners all over Florida and portions of South Georgia a steady market for livestock. The Florida Farmer and Homeseeker, a practical agricultural journal, says:

"A few farmers in any section of the state where hogs are scarce can get together and load a community car of fat porkers for this new enterprise. In those sections where the limited number of hogs makes this one of the questions the farmers should get busy and start new herds here and there. Corn, cowpeas, velvet beans, peanuts, rape and Bermuda grass will supply the necessary feed and very little effort will grow any of these crops."

All those forage, grazing and feed crops are absolutely necessary to the livestock industry, and the products named, as well as a score of others that can be named, produce ideally in Eastern North Carolina. Already intelligent farmers hereabouts recognize the fact that pastures and forage production and not the woods range are necessary for the livestock and dairying industry. They are taking notice of all adaptable forage crops and are turning their attention to pasures for hogs, cattle, sheep and goats.

The whole of Eastern North Carolina is looking to Wilmington for a packing house market and the farmers are constantly inquiring anxiously for definite information so they can increase their herds and give more attention to the crops that go along with the livestock industry. A farmer from Pender county declared yesterday that a packing house at Wilmington would double the value of every foot of his land, for he has been looking forward to the day that he could supplement his farm income and improve his lands by means of livestock.

It is conceded throughout Eastern North Carolina that a packing house at Wilmington will give tremendous impetus to cattle, hog and sheep raising, and it is agreed on all sides that the state of the livestock industry just at the present time demands a packing house for its completer development.

THE STATE HIGHWAY COMMISSION

We hope North Carolina will be able to show to South Carolina and Georgia the advantage of having a state highway commission. South Carolina has long since agitated the establishment of a commission, and Georgia has been attempting legislation in that direction, with very poor prospects of succeeding just yet a while.

The Georgia legislature is now in session and an effort is being made to get through a bill establishing a highway commission. An Atlanta dispatch states, however, that "the bill is still being made the football of politics in the House of Representatives with the chance growing stronger against the enactment of any measure on the subject." We can't conceive what politics has to do with such a matter.

Certainly that would be tough on Georgia, for she would have no showing for any portion of the Federal appropriation for rural mail roads. Georgia's share of the available appropriation will be about $2,181,000, but it is doubtful whether she can get it without a state commission.

North Carolina is in line for her share, and we can all realize now how well justified the Legislature was in establishing a commission two years ago. Our commission has taken steps to prove its usefulness to the State. We would like to see it get sufficient funds to enable it to inspect and investigate the road situation in all the counties of the State. We know that the commission already has proved of great use to the State, and it is hoped that its activities will soon clearly demonstrate the fact to the sister states. The fact is, during the recent floods in this State, the roads located by the State Highway Commission engineers stood the test in remarkable contrast with roads unscientifically located and constructed.

MORE UNITED STATES TERRITORY

The probability is that the Danish West Indies are now all but United States property, since it is quite likely that the government of Denmark has agreed to accept the $27,000,000 which the United States offers for the group of American islands belonging to that country. All that needs to be done is ratification of the sale and purchase by the Danish parliament and the U. S. the Senate.

Denmark did not need the islands for any purpose whatsoever. The administration of them, it is said, cost her annually more than the Danish government got in value from the islands, consisting of a group, with three of only considerable size—all small at best. We have no need of them as an asset but they are valuable to us as a base for protecting the Panama Canal. They are not absolutely necessary for that purpose, but Denmark has long desired to part with them and their possible purchase by some other nation might prove to be a menace to the Isthmian waterway. We would not care to see any other powerful nation in charge of Atlantic ocean property right on the route to our canal.

We can use the islands as a naval base and coaling station and that would be more satisfactory to this country than to see some other nation purchase the islands or acquire ceded rights to use them as a naval base and coaling station.

If Democratic prosperity were to continue in the event of Hughes' election, and we believe it would do so for a while, the Republicans would have nerve enough to claim the credit. Whoever is elected president will get the advantage of the Reserve Bank act of the Democratic administration.

CURRENT COMMENT.

Mr. Carr has received the appointment and the other gentlemen can settle back into the jobs they have been holding.—Durham Herald (Ind.)

If Mr. Carr showed up with the longest list of endorsements there was nothing else the senators could do, that is if they are representing the people.—Durham Herald (Ind.)

Cannot a little time and effort be spared, in the engrossment with other things, for attention of the strong arm of the State to those anarchists in Duplin? It seems high time they were being made to feel its weight.—Greensboro News (Ind.)

Quick work. The proclamation of Governor Craig asking for contributions for the flood sufferers of Western North Carolina appeared on Sunday morning. Yesterday the fund for the State Relief Committee had passed $10,000 and before dark $6,000 had been wired to different sections to meet urgent needs. That's action and it shows how quickly the people of North Carolina respond to the call for assistance. —Raleigh News and Observer.

The selection of Mr. J. O. Carr, of the Wilmington bar, to be district attorney for the Eastern district of North Carolina, filling the vacancy occasioned by the resignation of Judge F. D. Winston, should be a source of pride to his many friends, not only in Duplin, his "native heath," but elsewhere throughout the State. The fact that he was endorsed for this position by the bar associations of something like seventy counties, speaks volumes for him as a lawyer and as a man, and could not but have great weight with those who were charged with the selection of Judge Winton's successor. We congratulate Mr. Carr.—Mount Olive Tribune.

It appears now that Mr. J. O. Carr, of Wilmington, will slide into the office of district attorney for the Eastern district of North Carolina without any friction whatever. Indeed they are now saying that Mr. Bailey, who was slated in the papers against Carr was for him, and that as a matter of fact Bailey never solicited the appointment, and didn't want it. The Wilmington people are highly pleased over the prospects of Carr's appointment. Senator Simmons has sent in his name and both Senators will vote for him and this practically settles it. Funny how quickly the politicians commence to make romances when a vacancy occurs. They had it that Bailey was to be the man, that Simmons would insist on it and had columns of lurid stuff smoking through the columns of the press. But after the steam dissolved there didn't appear any opposition to Carr; Simmons was for him and Bailey was'nt mentioned. And for this are we politicians.—Greensboro Record (Ind.)

The papers of the State have been wondering what has become of Mr. Marion Butler. Well, he has turned up and this time through the columns of the Concord Chronicle, to which he contributes a letter warning the farmers that the rural credits law recently signed by President Wilson is "a makeshift," and an evidence of "Democratic hypocrisy." Butler proclaims that it was passed "in the hopes of fooling the farmers." Butler promises them that if the Republican party gets into power, "it will pass a law that will enable the farmers to get all the money they want at a rate of interest so low that it will be less than the profit they are now making in agriculture." In other words, he would make their credit so cheap that it would be worthless. Through a good financial system the farmers have been lifted into a condition of independence and they have grown too intelligent to heed such demagogic talk. Mr. Butler will find that it is not going to work in North Carolina this year. That sort of talk will no longer "go" with a people that in times past were easily fooled. The farmers of this country only ask the opportunity of securing money at the legal rate of interest with the safeguarding which the Government throws around it and they want no further experience with Republican fiatism. Next to the Federal Reserve banking system that a Democratic administration provided the country, the law providing the farmers with a safe and sound rural credits system of banking, one ample to meet all the demands of the agricultural communities, is the greatest benefit that has been bestowed upon the country in the history of political parties in the United States. When Mr. Butler undertakes to convince the North Carolina farmers otherwise, he is going to find them looking at him rather queerly, somewhat dubiously and altogether unlike the North Carolina farmers of a past day.—Charlotte Observer.

COAST LINE'S FLOOD TROUBLES BELIEVED NOW TO BE BEHIND.

Conditions Expected Soon to be Entirely Normal in Carolinas.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Rocky Mount, N. C., July 27.—"We believe our troubles are behind us," was the rebark of a person prominently connected with the operation of the Atlantic Coast Line railroad when asked today as to conditions in the flood-swept area of South Carolina and whether or not the through trains might at an early date be restored to their normal schedule. With the Santee bridge safe, the main line of the system is intact and, though the demands of two other Southern systems which are still greatly handicapped by washouts, in addition to the needs of the owning system will make for a lively handling of traffic, the company is prepared for this. Additional men have been placed in the service of the company, especially in the departments of dispatching and handling trains, while in the matter of the operation of trains the large forces are actively at the task.

Both the Southern and the Seaboard Air Line trains, and especially the perishable freight trains from over the South, are being handled in great numbers and according to the indications at this time it will be two weeks or longer before this condition is relieved. Hundreds of perishable freight cars from over the South are being handled north and the iceing forces of the Southern Railway at Spencer, which happen to be under the direction of the same firm as handles the service of the A. C. L. at this point, have been transferred here.

Adenoids.

ADENOIDS are soft "lymphoid vegetations, bleeding readily. They are found in the "post nasal space" in all ages; even in the newly born. The infant snuffles loudly and there is often considerable nasal discharge. This trouble may interfere greatly with suckling; and the poor infant, and the older children as well, are liable to attacks of suffocation during sleep and night terrors. Indeed, a lot of "grinding or gritting of the teeth," which is generally attributed to worms, may really be due to adenoids. Such children are prone to vomiting. The expression on the face of a child suffering from adenoids is unmistakable. The child has constantly either to blow its nose or to hawk and spit out; the nostrils are round and dilated (or in older children flattened across—just mere slits). The face is pale; the child is manifestly poor blooded; and of course he is a mouth-breather, his jaw dropped, his expression is dull and vacant, even diotic. These symptoms may appear only after an attack of scarlet fever, measles, whooping cough, or diphtheria or bronchitis. The lips and tongue are dry. There is much earache; and in consequence "running ears." The eyes are watery and inflamed; and the nasal discharges may cause sores of the upper lip. The taste and smell are deficient. And there is likely to be a barking cough. Habit spasm is observed in some cases.

In addition to what I stated yesterday deformities may appear. The natural and uniform development of the face is hindered, leading to the narrow jaw with crowded teeth and the high-arched pallet. And it takes the highest skill of those dentists who have made a speciality of "orthodentry"—teeth straightening—to correct those jaw deformities. In the chest there is likely to be alterations of shape; in some cases the pigeon breast, but in most cases the formation of a hollow at the lower end of a breast plate which the child makes obvious when the parts are sucked in with each inspiration.

Tomorrow we will state what to do for adenoids.

PHOSPHORUS POISONING.

L. N. T. writes: 1. What are the symptoms of phosphorus poisoning? 2. What is the treatment? 3. The antidotes?

Answer: 1. Belching of gas having the odor of garlic. The mouth, when observed in the dark, may be faintly luminous (phosphorescent). After several hours there is pain in the throat, heat and tenderness in the region of the stomach, nausea and vomiting, diarrhoea and colic. The vomited matter may be bloody, and luminous when agitated in the dark. After two or three days these symptoms cease, pain only remaining (if the patient recovers) in the back and limbs, and a feeble pulse. Death may occur suddenly in from two to four days. Usually after the fourth day the patient becomes jaundiced, suffers from headache, insomnia, retention of urine; he rapidly becomes delirious, then comatose and dies. 2. The unabsorbed portion of phosphorus is removed at once by an emetic; the best being a hypodermic injection of one-tenth grain of apomorphine. 3. There is no known chemical antidote. French oil of turpentine, the older the better, should be given (half a teaspoonful floating on water or mucilage every half hour). If there is recovery food must be free of oils and fats.

MEASLES.

Answer to D. S.: In treating measles the patient is put to bed; his diet is liquid—milk and soups mostly; he is given an initial purge of half a grain of calomel every hour until there is a movement and then a "clearing out" seidlitz powder. If the temperature is excessive and uncomfortable, sponging with tepid or cold water; if the rash does not come out well hot drinks and a warm bath; paregoric for the cough; cleanse the nose and throat with a mild alkaline solution (half teaspoonful common salt to a tumblerful water); during the peeling, vaseline the skin and give warm soap and water baths.

LIVING A STRENUOUS LIFE AT PLATTSBURG

Colonel Walker Taylor Visits Civilian Training Camp

Plenty of Hard Work for the Embryo Citizen Soldiers—Every Day is Busy One—Wilson's Election Seems to be Assured.

It is a strenuous life that a few more than 8,000 men are living at the military training camp for civilians at Plattsburg, N. Y., according to Col. Walker Taylor, collector of customs for the Wilmington district, who returned yesterday from a visit to his son, Mr. Walker Taylor, Jr., who is enrolled in the corps composed of about 5,000 college students from all parts of the country.

The college boys will spend five weeks at the camp, and according to Gen. Leonard Wood, who is at the camp and gives daily lectures, the training they will get is the equivalent of three years' service in the State militia. Colonel Taylor after spending two days at the camp, and witnessing the drills and other features of the work done there, is of the opinion that General Wood is right.

"The discipline is simply wonderful," declared Colonel Taylor, "and it is indeed a revelation to find how hard these men are working. They are up at 5:45 in the morning, and their first duties are to put their tents in order; then they must wash their clothes and after breakfast they wash the dishes; in fact, they do everything about the camp except the cooking. They are then given 45 minutes of calisthenics and other exercises under the supervision of a West Point instructor, after which they spend three hours of heavy marching, digging trenches, or other kinds of field work. From 11 to 12 they hear lectures on the work which they have just gone over, and then they are ready for dinner. At 1:30 o'clock they are started again on another round of field work, which cantinues until 4 o'clock."

Colonel Taylor was particularly impressed with the work of the engineering corps, which in almost the twinkling of an eye threw a pontoon bridge across a street which represented a stream. Other kinds of work done by the engineering division is that of building suspension bridges, constructing wire entanglements, etc.

The general order in the camp is all that could be desired, and the men are enthusiastic over their training, Colonel Taylor stated, and it is an inspiration to see how enthusiastically they go about the hard, gruelling tasks that they are called upon to perform. The last ten days of the present encampment will be spent in fighting sham battles and in making a march of about 100 miles. They will be given every phase of training that is necessary for a soldier to have. All the different divisions of the army are represented.

The encampment now at Plattsburg is the second for the summer.

When the present encampment leaves on August 8th there will be another to take its place and still another will follow in September. While the government pays the expenses of the training, the men themselves pay all their living expenses.

Looks Like Wilson.

"Well, it looks like Wilson, from the present outlook in the North," said Colonel Taylor, when he was asked as to the political situation. "The nomination of Hughes seems not to have created the enthusiasm that was expected. Some of the Republicans feel like it was doing the wrong thing to take a man off the Supreme Court bench, thus giving Wilson an opportunity of appointing another man, while others have failed to see where any issue has been raised that is sufficient reason for a change in Presidents."

A significant fact pointed out by Colonel Taylor is that the New York Tribune, the most influential Republican newspaper in New York, has never yet come out for Hughes. It may do so after the notification programme. This paper was so strong for "Roosevelt and no pussy-footing" that it has evidently been hard to "about face" and "eat crow", which, however, did not phaze the redoubtable Rough Rider.

Colonel Taylor found conditions generally satisfactory in the North, but little interest, however, has yet been manifested in politics. The campaign may warm up later, but, as yet, it is much like it is in Wilmington—everybody is too busy thinking about other things.

WILMINGTON HAS SUNSHINE.

Only Small Sprinkle of Rain Here Yesterday—More Fair Weather Today.

After a week of rain that fell at intervals in torrents, Wilmington had a clear day yesterday, the sunshine being gladly welcomed after the period of dampness. There was a small sprinkle of rain and fleeting clouds were in evidence for a part of the day, but there was every indication that the "wet spell" had been broken and even Weather Observer Felger while somewhat reluctant to admit that it might not rain again today, declared that while it would be partly cloudy he thought there would be little or no rain.

The sunshine yesterday served to revive the spirits of those who had become discouraged over the prospects of rain and more rain. However, the more cautious ones continued to keep rain coats and umbrellas handy for they didn't know what the day might bring forth. Their fears were unfounded, however, and the sun continued to shine and last night the stars twinkled merrily in the skies without even a disturbing cloud to obliterate their existence to the inhabitants of this section of the mundane sphere.

TO FURNISH BREAD FOR SOLDIER BOYS.

Wilmington Concern Gets Contract to Supply Camp Glenn.

The Globe Baking Company yesterday received a contract to furnish the State troops at Camp Glenn with 100,000 loaves of bread during the coming month. This is one of the largest contracts ever given to a local concern, and will necessitate a daily shipment of 3,300 pounds. Special express cars will be provided for the shipments. The contract comes through the camp quartermaster.

ENDORSE FARM LOAN BANKS

While Wilmington will probably take no active steps towards securing one of the 12 farm loan banks to be established in the United States, owing to the fact that the port is bounded on one side by the Atlantic ocean, making the interior points more desirable from the standpoint of developing the farming industry, steps will be taken by the people here to secure one of the banks for North Carolina. The executive committee of the Chamber of Commerce at a special meeting yesterday afternoon decided to write letters to all the North Carolina members of Congress, including Senators Simmons and Overman, urging them to use their urgent efforts to have one of these banks placed in North Carolina, leaving the choice of the city to be settled later.

In accordance with the action of the committee, the following letter has been sent to each of the Congressmen and Senators from this State:

"Dear Sir:—The Executive Committee of the Wilmington Chamber of Commerce believe that one of the twelve farm loan banks authorized by Congress, should be located in North Carolina.

"Accordingly, we solicit your urgent efforts to have one of these banks placed in our State. We are asking the Senators and Representatives of this State to work to this end at first, leaving the choice of the city in which the bank is to be located to be settled later.

"We trust that this matter will have your earnest attention.

"Yours truly,
"WILMINGTON CHAMBER OF COMMERCE.
(Signed) "M. W. JACOBI,
"President."

The Advertising committee of the Chamber at a meeting yesterday endorsed the proposition for organizing in Wilmington an engineering company of the State National Guard and the Executive committee referred it to the Chamber to be considered at its next meeting. It is expected that the Chamber will lend every assistance possible in the organization of the company.

TO HAVE THE CELEBRATION

Rain Has Not Interfered With Arrangements for Observance of Anniversary at Moore's Creek.

The heavy rains of the past few days have not interfered with the arrangements now in progress for the big celebration to be held at Moore's Creek Battleground on August 3rd, according to Mr. George J. Moore, of Atkinson, president of the battleground association, who was in Wilmington yesterday for the purpose of completing the final details.

"I have even purchased the necessary cord with which to raise the flag on next Thursday morning," said Mr. Moore, "and you may tell the people of Wilmington that we are going to celebrate the anniversary of this noted battle on an even larger scale than in previous years. Everything is being put in readiness for the entertainment of thousands of people and we expect them to come. The Atlantic Coast Line has announced very low rates from both Sanford and Wilmington and intermediate points and we want everybody who can to come and enjoy themselves."

Judge J. D. Murphy, of Asheville, has been secured to make the annual address. The Hanover Concert Band will be on hand to furnish music. There will be other features, not the least of which will be the basket dinner which will be served in the grove of trees that are now to be found on this famous spot.

Mr. Moore arranged with Chief of Police N. J. Williams yesterday to send several Wilmington policemen to the celebration to see that the most perfect order is observed.

Convenient schedules will make it possible for the people of Wilmington to go up and spend the day, returning early that night. It is expected that there will be quite a large attendance from this city.

FOR WESTERN FLOOD RELIEF

Four Contributions Received Yesterday for the State Fund.

Although members of the State Relief Committee in Wilmington are making no effort whatever towards a personal canvass for funds for the Western North Carolina Flood sufferers, contributions, entirely voluntary, continue to come in for this most worthy charity and will continue to come in as long as there is need.

The committee made no report yesterday, but The Star has received for the benefit of the fund four additional contributions, which are gratefully acknowledged and which will be turned over immediately to the proper authorities. The Wilmington fund to date as reported to this paper is as follows:

Previously acknowledged	$634.00
Graham Kenan, Esq.	25.00
Mrs. James G. Kenan	10.00
Mrs. J. M. Walker	5.00
Miss M. E. Cook	1.00
Total	$675.00

The total contributions yesterday by the State Committee in Raleigh from all sections had passed the $15,000 mark, but this has only partially met the great need and the appeals for aid are still just as insistent. The funds are being handled promptly and already relief expeditions are starting into the various districts devastated by the flood, so that all contributions are immediately available and at once reach the destitute and the distressed.

MUST PAY DOG TAX NOW

Recorder Empie Dismisses Cases Against Those Who Have Badges.

The police department is now waging a determined campaign against owners of dogs who have failed to pay the annual tax of $1 which the city ordinances specify must be paid. Six persons were before Recorder Empie yesterday on charges of having failed to purchase the badges which are required. Most of them were able to show that they had bought the badges while judgment was held open in one case until the owner can get a license. However, the Recorder is not disposed to continue to be lenient and the part of wisdom now is for all dog owners to come across with the dollar, if they would avoid the payment of added costs in the Recorder's court.

ROSTER OF VETERANS ATTENDING REUNION

Actual Number of Registrations This Year Was 375

Practically All Served in North Carolina Regiments in the War Between the States—Total Present More Than 400.

The number of Confederate Veterans attending the annual reunion of 1916 which closed in Wilmington yesterday with a big parade was 375 while quite a number were present who were not registered. The total attendance was more than 400, which is a remarkable record when it is taken into consideration that a large part of the western part of the State was cut off because of a lack of transportation facilities and the heavy rains this week in the eastern section made it rather uncomfortable to venture away from home. With more favorable conditions, the attendance would certainly have gone beyond the 600 mark, it is believed.

As the veterans arrived on the various trains they were met by members of the reception committee and given badges and their names secured for the roster. This roster contains the names of many who achieved prominence in the War Between the States and it will be of interest throughout this section to know who were present at the reunion this yeer. WILL MUSTER IN COMPANY

War Department Sends Orders to Rush Organization of Wilmington Engineering Organization.

The Wilmington company of engineers of the North Carolina National Guard will be mustered into service at a public meeting to be held in the Court House on Monday night at 8 o'clock. Telegraphic instructions from the War Department to Adjutant General Royster yesterday afternoon were to rush the organization of the two companies of engineers authorized for this State, one of them being in Charlotte and the other in Wilmington.

Col. Geo. L. Peterson, of Raleigh, according to a dispatch from Raleigh last night, said that the companies in Wilmington and Charlotte will be mustered into service within a week. The Adjutant General's office on Wednesday notified the War Department that North Carolina had one company of engineers at Wilmington ready to be accepted into the Federal service.

While enough men have been enrolled to insure the organization of an engineering company in Wilmington, there is still room for others to come in and recruits are being added daily. Mr. George Gillette is recruiting officer for the company and will be glad to give any information.

The Advertising committee of the Chamber of Commerce yesterday afternoon endorsed the movement and the members of the Executive committee of the Chamber expressed themselves as highly gratified at the steps that had been taken to have Wilmington represented by such a company.

The meeting for Monday night has been called by Mr. J. L. Becton, who is temporary chairman, for the purpose not only of mustering in the company into service but also for the purpose of enabling all others interested to gain further information as to the duties of such a company. Contrary to the general idea, such a company is not composed of engineers, but affords a wide field of service for those who wish to serve their country in times of emergency to the best advantage.

The following is from yesterday's Raleigh News and Observer:

"The Adjutant General's office yesterday notified the United States Bureau of Military Affairs that North Carolina has one company of engineers at Wilmington ready to be accepted into the Federal service. A second company will probably be organized with headquarters in Charlotte and with drafts on Raleigh, Louisburg, Durham and other places which might furnish squads to finish the complement."

GASOLINE TAKES A TUMBLE

But Not for Much—Reduction of One Cent Per Gallon Yesterday.

The long expected, the long deferred and the much-hoped-for reduction in the price of gasoline came yesterday afternoon to the over-joyed motorists and to others who have found the high explosive almost a necessity in this day and time.

The reduction is slight, but much appreciated nevertheless, for it not only supplies a drop or two more of the precious fluid for the same money to the tank, but it is something of an assurance that the price will not go higher.

The reduction is one cent per gallon at the local filling stations, or, in other words, the price is now 24 cents per gallon instead of 25 cents as has been paid heretofore for several months with a sneaking notion on the part of the consumer that it might go even still higher.

This reduction and perhaps a further reduction in the not-distant future was intimated by one of the big oil magnates a week or ten days ago, the cause of the decline being an increased production of the crude petroleum and better methods of "cracking" from it the juice that makes the joy wagon go. Reports are that within the past few weeks the production of crude petroleum has largely increased in several producing fields and with the improved methods of refining and the likelihood of a cheap and dependable substitute, consumers are looking to the day when something like old-time prices will prevail.

It is understood that all the oil companies gave notice of the reduction at one and the same time yesterday and hereafter filling stations will exact their accustomed tribute a little less harshly than heretofore to the extent of the one cent per gallon.

MISS ANN V. WHITE BRIDE OF MR. HORACE C. COOPER

Many friends in Wilmington and elsewhere have been interested in learning of the marriage of Mr. Horace C. Cooper, of Wilmington, a son of Senator and Mrs. W. B. Cooper, and Miss Ann Volker White, of Charleston, S. C., on July 9. The following announcement recently appeared in the Charleston News and Courier:

"Married at Trinity church, Columbia, S. C., by the Rev. Mr. Finley, on Sunday, July 9, 1916, Ann Volker White, of Charleston, S. C., to Horace Crane Cooper, of Wilmington, N. C."

The bride is well known in Wilmington, where she has visited on several occasions. The groom is now serving as a member of the South Carolina National Guard.

MAY EMPLOY TRAFFIC EXPERT

The question of adding a traffic department to the Wilmington Chamber of Commerce will be considered at a special meeting of the organization on Wednesday, August 1st, at noon. The Traffic committee has had the matter under consideration for some time and it was brought up at the annual meeting of the chamber, but no action was taken at that time. It is proposed to secure the services of a man who has had wide experience with freight rates and who will devote his entire time to looking after the interests of members of the Chamber in the adjustment of rates to and from this port.

Many of the Southern cities have traffic experts who give their entire time to looking after the interests of the business men. Notable among these are Columbia, Charlotte, Atlanta and many others.

At the annual meeting of the Chamber, Mr. J. Allan Taylor, chairman of the traffic committee, pointed out the many advantages that such a department would afford. He pointed out particularly that the only way in which Wilmington can ever hope to grow to the proportions of a large city will be through the development of its commerce. He mentioned also the fact that Charleston is enjoying much larger freight facilities because of the advantageous freight rates.

Owing to the complicated nature of the arrangements of freight rates, it takes a trained man to deal intelligently with them. Should the proposition for the addition of a traffic department meet with the approval of the members of the Chamber, it will mean the employment of an expert to look after it.

In the event that it is decided to introduce the traffic department, it would mean, of course, that those who are most directly affected by the service would bear the greater share of the burden of expense.

A meeting of the membership committee of the Chamber has been called for this afternoon at 4 o'clock for the purpose of working out plans for the enrollment of members in the future. The new constitution places all memberships on an individual basis. The committee that framed the new constitution will meet with the membership committee this afternoon.

Bring Out Your Hidden Beauty

Beneath that soiled, discolored, faded or aged complexion is one fair to look upon. Mercolized wax will gradually, gently absorb the devitalized surface skin, revealing the youthfully fresh, white and beautiful skin underneath. Used by refined women who prefer complexions of true naturalness. Mercolized wax in one ounce package, with directions for use, is sold by all druggists.

Wrightsville Beach

A fishing party under the expert guidance of Capt. W. M. Wells, composed of guests at the Oceanic hotel, went out about 7 o'clock yesterday morning and after angling for two hours returned with 150 fish of various kinds, weighing from one to two pounds.

Miss Marjorie Bonitz entertained a number of her friends Tuesday afternoon from 5 to 7 o'clock in honor of her guests, Misses Totsie Buchanan and Lurline Parrott, of Darlington, S. C. A number of interesting games were played after which each guest was given an attractive souvenir of the beach.

Among the arrivals at the Seashore hotel yesterday were Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Martin, Lebanon, Tenn.; Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Newton, Red Springs; Miss Eva McKenzie, Faison; Mrs. Martha Burke, Lebanon, Tenn.; H. R. Bayliss, Sumter, S. C.; H. P. Watson, J. C. Sullivan, Winston-Salem, and E. A. Crawford, Richmond, Va.

For the benefit of the North Carolina flood sufferers a bridge whist tournament will be held this morning at 11 o'clock at the Seashore hotel. The proceeds will be devoted entirely to the relief of those who suffered in the recent floods in Western Carolina. It is hoped that a large number of ladies will come out from Wilmington to attend the tournament.

Yesterday's Fayetteville Observer: "Mrs. N. E. Youngblood and daughter, Miss Mildred, and Miss Stella Fortson, are spending a week at Wrightsville Beach.———Mr. Tom Thornton left Tuesday morning for a week's stay at Wrightsville Beach.———Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Cox have returned home after a pleasant week's stay at Wrightsville Beach.———Mrs. W. G. Clark and three daughters have returned from a visit to Wrightsville Beach."

Assistant Fire Chief Leslie Yelverton and eight members of the Goldsboro fire department, who have been spending a very pleasant vacation of a week at the Oceanic hotel, will return home tonight. Fire Chief Schnibben was a guest of the party at supper last evening. Another delegation from the Goldsboro department will arrive next week to spend their vacation. The Goldsboro firemen have for several years been spending their vacations at the beach.

Manager Wood, of the open air theatre at Lumina, is now pleased to announce to his numerous patrons at that attractive centre of interest on the beach that he is now receiving the regular film service from Atlanta, which is a great improvement from the stock films previously used from Charlotte and which were the only ones to be had during the flood's interruption of traffic. The nightly programmes in the future will be up to the usual high standard and patrons of Lumina will enjoy them.

Former Clyde Skipper Dead.

Many Wilmington people, familiar with faces and forms on the water front a little more than a quarter of a century ago, will be interested in the announcement of the death of Capt. Benjamin Doane, which occurred during the past month at his home in New Jersey. Captain Doane died at the age of 93. During his active career he was one of the most popular of the masters of Clyde steamships trading regularly at this port and there are many yet who recall his kindly and generous manner and who will hear with sorrow of his passing.

THEATRICAL

"Where Are My Children," is the first motion picture production to be presented in defiance to the National Board of Censors, and at that, it was screened for the first time right under their noses at the great Globe Theatre in New York City. Immediately upon its first presentation there arose such a clamor from the masses who were witnessing each day for the censorship board to pass it, proclaiming it the "nation's greatest weapon against the insidious crime of destruction of the unborn," that there was a reviewing at which many prominent preachers, Don't miss this chapter of thrills at the Bijou today.

"Luke Pipes the Pippins," is the title of the latest Lonesome Luke comedy scream also on today's bill, and in it the irresistible roisterer meets a big bunch of "chickens" at the beach and has one swell time for a while, but as usual, comes out second best at the end.

"In Soft in a Studio," is another racy comedy scream in which the great comedian of Pathe gets into a studio mix-up with a lot of pretty models, and furnishes some swift and stirring action, interspersed with fleeting glances of pretty femininity. Don't miss this great comedy scream.

TODAY'S FEATURE AT THE ROYAL

That the censorship board later passed it with their highest commendation is to be thanked for the opportunity that Wilmington will have of viewing this spectacle at the Victoria all next week. Many prominent preachers have heartily endorsed the spectacle.

On the whole, the production is bound to create and compel much interest and discussion. It may contain the story that is not unique, in fact, it is one known to almost every adult who thinks; but as the audience looks it from an entirely different angle, it has a thick cloak of newness thrown over it. The production, while of necessity blunt and plain, is treated with as much delicacy as possible in putting on a topic of this kind. The first performance Monday afternoon will be witnessed by a large and representative audience of leading Wilmington people who will be asked to render their verdict for or against the spectacle.

New and startling developments feature the 12th great chapter of "The Strange Case of Mary Page," featured on today's bill at the Grand. The title is "The Slums", and it is full of action from the beginning to the very end of the last reel.

Bennett, a friend of Pollock, is put on the witness stand in this chapter, and certain facts are brought out about a slumming party, the party being made up of Mary Page, Amy Larue, the theatrical manager, and Bennett. During the tour Pollock meets the party and insulted Mary, who threatened to shoot him. Evidence is also brought out that hunts of enemies that Pollock had made, and that the dead man had hired a pair of thugs to murder Philip Langdon. The interest is superbly sustained throughout and you will wish there were two more reels.

Philip Langdon, who is trying to save the girl he loves, brings out the very best that is in Henry Walthall, and Edna Mayo as Mary Page is given an opportunity for some of her most startling dramatic action.

There will be two great comedy features on today's bill, and this makes today's programme one of the most attractive of the week.

Big Day at Royal.

"Red Feather Fans" have been growing in number every week, until every Friday is a big day at the Royal. "A Huntress of Men" last Friday's superb feature was pronounced one of the very best productions ever presented at the Royal, and bigger, better, greater, grander, more lavish, larger casts, finer sets, more absorbing stories, seem to be the rule each succeed Red Feather production.

The climax seems to have been reached with "A Youth of Fortune," today's startling five-reel comedy drama, starring those famous Broadway musical comedy stars, Carter and Flora Parker DeHaven in the leading roles.

"A Youth of Fortune," is an exciting drama of social and college life, telling the startling and thrilling story of a battle of wits for millions, and these famous stars, admired by millions are at their very best in the portrayal of the leading roles. Directed by the dean of directors, Otis Turner, "A Youth of Fortune," is an achievement that has the peculiar punch and power that thrills.

A merry chase for a young son who is heir to a fortune and for the custody of the fortune supplies one of the swiftest stories of the season, and at the finish you are furnished one of the most surprising incidents and unusual situations ever filmed. The story keeps you guessing all the way through and winds up with a startling and unexpected climax.

"The Iron Claw"—Today.

The 18th great chapter of "The Iron Claw" and no one is nearer a solution of the mystery than before the beginning. Today this great two-reel chapter of thrills will be flashed on the screen at the Bijou to the largest crowds that have yet seen a chapter of this stirring serial, for every week the crowds have been constantly increasing, and today, with the near approach to the end of the mystery and the most stirring serial story ever filmed, the crowds will just about reach the capacity limit. For next week the Laughing Mask tells who he is to one person and whom do you suppose that person is? No other than beautiful Margery Golden, the woman he seems to love, and who has openly acknowledged that he is the only man she loves. Don't miss this chapter of thrills at the Bijou today.

TRIAL OF ALLEGED LYNCHER THIS WEEK IS NOT LIKELY.

Sam Stocks, of Green County, is Under $10,000 Bond.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Kinston, N. C., July 27.—The trial of Sam Stocks, alleged lyncher, at Kenansville, is not likely to come off this week as Solicitor H. E. Shaw a few days ago stated it would, from the best information to be had from the Duplin county seat. Communication with Kenansville has been out of the question for a day or two, owing to telephone trouble and the lack of a telegraph station, but it is reported on good authority that Stocks presented himself to the solicitor at Kenansville and was told to return home and wait until notified. A lawyer here interested in the case states that he does not expect the trial to be held this week; that he would be notified in case it was to be called. The term is only for the one week. Stocks is under $10,000 bail, furnished by Kinston men after he had been ordered held in that sum by Judge Bond at the conclusion of the investigation into the lynching of Joe Black here a few weeks ago.

BARNEY HERRING NOT GUILTY.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Warsaw, N. C., July 27.—The jury rendered a verdict of "not guilty" in the case of Barney Herring, who was tried Tuesday at Kenansville before Judge Devin, for the alleged poisoning of his wife, in September, 1915.

CROPS IN SCOTLAND COUNTY ARE SERIOUSLY DAMAGED.

Laurinburg, N. C., July 26.—The excessive heavy rains that the Scotland county farmers have witnessed for the last three or four weeks, is a ruination to the Scotland county crops. The cantaloupe crop has been cut about one-third short, and the melon crop has been cut about two-thirds short on account of the heavy rains. The cotton and corn crops have been damaged very extensively, the extent of which can not be ascertained until harvesting time. The very dry spring along with the heavy rains has about ruined the Scotland crops. The farmers haven't been able to get a plow in their fields for about three weeks and the grass is just about to take everything.

FUNSTON AND PERSHING, THE MEN ON THE JOB IN MEXICO

Picturesque Careers of the Two Men Who Are Leaders in Handling Our Trouble With Mexico.

Copyright, 1916, by The International Syndicate.

OUR trouble with Mexico has placed in the limelight two men of somewhat different temperaments but alike in the methods by which they won the confidence of their superiors and achieved rank and distinction in the Army. Both had a high conception of duty and knew no obstacle or objection in the performance of it. "Men of action" is the best way to describe both General Frederick Funston and General John Joseph Pershing who are now in command of the Mexican situation. Of all the careers of modern times none seems to be fuller of sheer adventure than these two men.

"Wandering Feet"

General Funston's life from his early manhood up to the present time has been one long list of daring achievements. Born in New Carlisle, Ohio, on November 9th, 1865, his early childhood seems to be without any special incident except that the family moved to Kansas while he was still a child and he grew up on a farm. He attended school at Iola, Kansas, and after finishing at the high school he tried for West Point but failed. One of his soldier friends once declared that Fred. Funston was born with "wandering feet" and from his activities in many sections it seems that the man was not far wrong. Funston had no sooner finished school than he went to Mexico where he learned the Spanish language and much about the character of the Mexican people. After a time he returned to Kansas and entered the University at Lawrence where he met with only moderate success.

Extreme heat and extreme cold

He tried newspaper work in Kansas City for a time but when he learned that there was to be a government expedition into Death Valley, California, he forgot all about his reportorial work and obtained a position as botanist with the expedition. The trip was full of excitement and danger for the mercury at one place reached 147 degrees and many of the party were ill. Funston himself came near losing his life when he was sent across the desert for mail. He lost his way and his horse died of exhaustion and for twenty-four hours he wandered over the desert before he found help. He returned home to recuperate but soon became restless to go out again.

The next time he tried extreme cold, for his second government position was with the Agricultural Department when he went to the wilds of Alaska to examine the flora. He was one of the first white men to go over the Chilkoot Pass. While in Alaska he broke the white man's record for travelling on snow shoes, after which he paddled absolutely alone down the Yukon in a canoe a distance of 1,100 miles without seeing a human face for weeks. His only baggage was a change of clothing and a copy of Kipling's Barrack Room Ballads.

Once again amid the comforts of civilization the young man classified his specimens and after writing a magazine story on his adventures the call of the wild came to him again and he went to South America determined to raise coffee. He failed in this and returned home minus money but with as much energy as ever.

Fought with Cuban insurgents

About this time the clouds were darkening in Cuba and the insurrection against Spain was getting under way, and Funston set about to get into the fray. He began to study machine guns and mastered their mechanism and handling. Then he went to Cuba. This was in 1896. He was made lieutenant of Artillery and for two years he fought with the insurgents, being wounded three times, and finally his horse fell on top of him and nearly crushed out his life. Today the Cubans will tell you that he was the best artillery officer the Cuban Army ever had.

Capture of Aguinaldo.

He afterward returned to Kansas, where he became the Colonel of the Twentieth Kansas Regiment. The regiment got no farther than Tampa and Funston fretted over his inactivity when big things were going on in Cuba. Then one day his regiment was ordered to the Philippines and the "Fighting Bantam of Kansas," as he was known in those days, fairly danced with joy. He participated in the northern Luzon campaign of General McArthur and distinguished himself by crossing a river at Claumpit in April, 1899, on a small bamboo raft under fire and establishing a rope ferry by which the U. S. troops were enabled to cross and win a battle. He was assigned to take charge of the 4th District Department of Northern Luzon.

Later he commanded the expedition which resulted in the capture of Aguinaldo, the insurgent leader who was giving the United States almost as much trouble as Villa is at present.

Funston returned home soon afterward and on April 1st, 1901, he received his commission as a Brigadier-General.

For a time he remained quietly at home but when the San Francisco earthquake occurred it was Funston who was called to direct the work of rescue in that terrible disaster. How efficiently he did this is well known to those who saw the chaotic condition of things in that city after the wreck and ruin of earthquake and fire had spent their force.

Cleaned up Vera Cruz

From time to time General Funston carried on his work as commander of different divisions of the Army but not until 1914 when Vera Cruz was taken by the sailors and marines under Admiral Fletcher did he again attract special attention. Then came the call for Funston to take over the commands. He cleaned up Vera Cruz and turned the pest hole into a comparatively healthy city. Then he waited for orders to move to Mexico City but instead he was directed to turn the city back to Mexico. He returned to the United States and was sent to Fort Sam Houston to command the border. The raid at Columbus again gave Funston work and at present writing he is a busy man.

Personality

From his deeds one pictures him as a big bluff man with a big voice and long stride, but such is not the case, as he is a small man with delicately shaped hands and gentle voice. He is full of the joy of living and bubbles over with jokes and festive repartee. He makes a poor impression on strangers at first meeting on account of his reserve but after the second meeting he becomes almost fascinating. In business he is scrupulously honest and is a faithful friend. He is simple in his manner, absolutely without conceit or pose and will not tolerate the canter or poser for one moment.

He is a devoted husband, having married his wife after an acquaintance of six weeks. His wedding trip consisted of a walk of a few blocks after which he left for the Philippines with his regiment. Many men have done things but few can compare with Funston in the number of things well done. He still has many years of army service before him before he reaches the retirement age.

Pershing every inch a soldier

The man whom General Funston selected as the leader of the expedition into Mexico is also a man with a record—every inch a soldier, for ever since he was graduated from West Point in June of 1886 he has been doing things for his country. A product of Missouri, John J. Pershing received his education in the normal school at Kirksville, Mo. Upon leaving West Point he became a second lieutenant in the Famous Sixth Cavalry. During the early years he fought in the border campaigns against the Indians and was commended by General Miles for "marching his troop with pack train over rough country 140 miles in forty-six hours, bringing in every animal and man in good condition."

Took part in capture of Geronimo

Young Pershing took part in the capture of Geronimo who defied the United States Government for sometime—a chase which led him into Mexico over some of the ground which was covered by the expedition which went in pursuit of Villa. In both the pursuit of Geronimo and Villa the Americans have been forced to face American made guns in the hands of cold-blooded murderers who would stop at nothing to accomplish their purpose.

General Pershing spent ten years in the southwest which gave him precisely the training he requires for the work in which he is now engaged. He assisted in the adjustment of the difficulties between the white men of the west and hostile Zuni Indians. He also participated in our last difficulties with the Indians—the Sioux in 1890-91.

He came east in 1896 and in the Spanish-American war he served as an Officer of the Tenth Cavalry (colored troops), the same organization that recently lost some of its men through Mexican treachery.

Subdued Moros

His next duties led him to the Philippines, where he was called upon to subdue some of the hostile Moros on the Island of Mindanao. The raids of these warlike tribes on the coast towns of the island were checked by Pershing's brilliant victory in the fight at Bayan. Forty of the Moro forts were destroyed with the loss of only two American lives, the subjection of Mindanao was completed and Pershing became the military governor. The resolute performance of his duty and the fulfillment of every pledge won for the American officer the affection of this curious wild people whom for three hundred years the Spaniards had failed to conquer. They formally elected Captain Pershing a Datto of the tribe, confirming upon him the power of life and death—the only American army officer entitled to serve as a Mohammedan judge.

In 1906 President Roosevelt promoted Pershing from Captain to Brigadier-General over 862 other officers. Although this is said to be a record "jump" in the history of army promotions, it was not only merited, but actually earned by General Pershing's work in the Philippines.

In 1911 Pershing was ordered to subdue the Moros, one of the toughest problems ever put up to an army officer. But Pershing gritted his teeth, smiled his famous smile and got busy.

Early in 1914 General Pershing returned to the United States and shortly thereafter was assigned to command the Eighth Brigade, with headquarters at El Paso. After the Columbus outrage General Funston sent him into Mexico in pursut of Villa. Few men are better fitted for the task as he has had many years experience with treacherous people and knows the topography of Mexico as well. The United States is fortunate in having these two men on the job in Mexico, for both are well qualified to handle the serious situation. Both are products of the Middle West and have earned their laurels by actually "doing things."

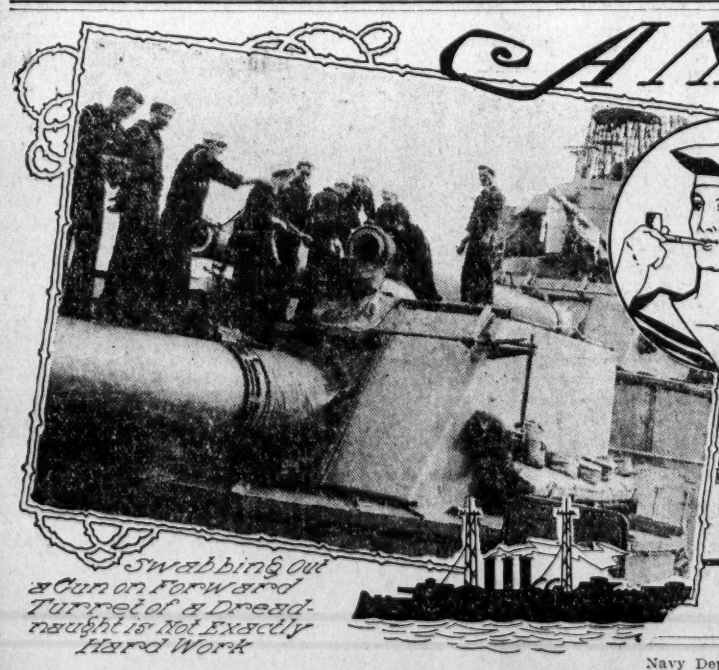
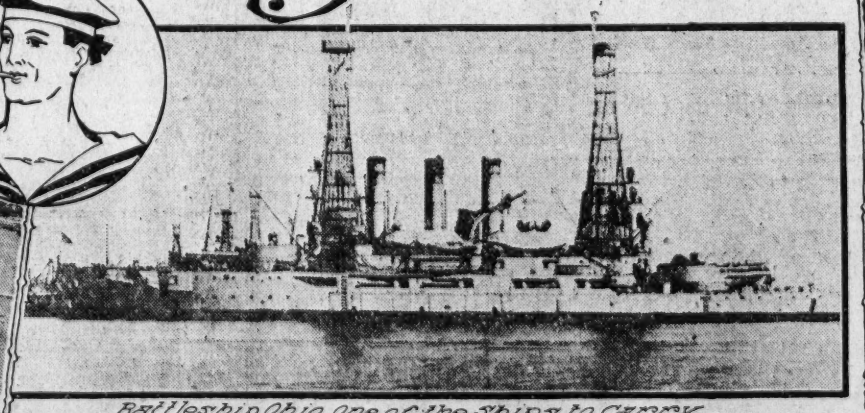
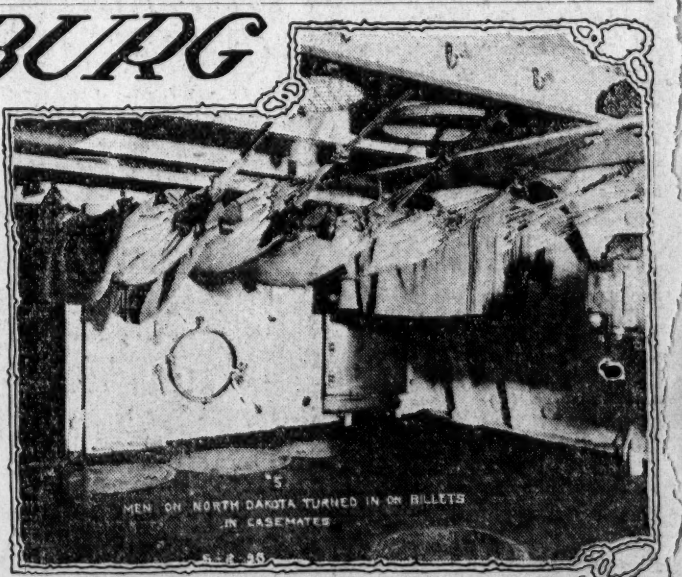
A NAVAL PLATTSBURG THIS AUGUST



Swabbing Out a Gun on Forward Turret of a Dreadnaught is Not Exactly Hard Work



Battleship Ohio, One of the Ships to Carry the "Civilian Sailors"



How the the Civilian Sailor Will Be Rocked in the Cradle of the Deep

First Naval Training Cruise for Civilians - Nine Battleships To Carry 3,000 Men for a Month's Training At Sea - These Will Form Basis of a Naval Reserve.

Copyright, 1916, by The International Syndicate.

JUST as the call for troops to serve in Mexico will not interfere, according to present plans, with the army camps for civilians at Plattsburg, N. Y., for the remainder of the summer, so too the proposed "Naval Plattsburg" will be held as scheduled by the Navy Department.

Beginning on August 15, the first naval training cruise for civilians will be inaugurated. This, it is stated, is the first instance in this country or any other of such an effort on the part of a government to afford its citizens opportunity to get a taste of life on a battleship.

But the "taste" will be "a mouthful." Those who have been to the army camps at Plattsburg say that life there is "no joke." And neither will the "Naval Plattsburg" be an idle vacation trip on a yacht. In both instances, the business is a serious one; for to make a soldier or a sailor of a civilian in a few short weeks is a stupendous undertaking. Hard work, plenty of it and an intelligent, earnest and lively interest in the course of training is the order of the day. For—and note this well—the civilians so trained at this "Naval Plattsburg" are to form the basis of a Naval Reserve, it is hoped.

Three thousand civilians are to take this naval training course on nine of Uncle Sam's big battleships. It is not to be expected that at the end of four weeks they will be finished sailors, for such an achievement is beyond the realm of possibility. But it is expected that the men completing the cruise will be in a fair way to be eligible for commissions and service on the second line of defense in case of a war which necessitates an increase in the size of our Navy.

At the end of the cruise each man will be asked if he desires to join the naval reserves; though no one is compelled to do so. Certificates will also be given them, showing what work they did on the cruise and how efficiently it was done; and a card index of the certificates will be filed at the Navy Department so that, in case of need, the holders of the certificates may be reached for service.

Of course the ships will not be manned solely by the civilians; a course would certainly be impossible and might prove very expensive for Uncle Sam. Each battleship will carry about three hundred of its regular crew and a sufficient quota of officers to handle the ship and train the civilians. The regular "blue jackets" will do all the technical work of the ships and will attend to the stoking. But the civilian sailor will have to take his turn at scrubbing down decks, polishing the brass work, etc.

He will live the life of a jack-tar aboard ship, sleep in a hammock, clean the guns, be instructed in the art of handling them, taught the system of signalling now in use in the navy and, in short, all the things it is necessary for him to know to be of value to his country in case of need.

Discipline, of course, will be strict; the rules and regulations of the Navy must be obeyed, and it is ordered that "for grave or repeated infraction of regulations and instructions" the offender may be landed at the nearest American port by the commander of the ship.

While the regular sailors will attend to most of the laborious duties necessary to the operation of the ship, the civilian will still have plenty to do. He must be out of his hammock in the morning by half-past five when hot coffee is passed around; and from then on until a quarter after seven he is to overhaul his clothing, scrub down decks, tidy up the ship, etc.

At 7.30 he has breakfast—and it is certain he will be a hungry boy by this time. The meals are the regulation sort, plain but good and plentiful. From after breakfast the volunteer sailor is busy getting himself and the ship ready for inspection, which is no slight task.

Then come the call to quarters and the drills of various sorts. Dinner will be served at noon, and the afternoon will be spent in learning to handle the guns and small boats, rifle practice, the drills attendant upon the landing of a party on the coast and the dozen and one details which must be mastered by the man-o-war'sman.

At six o'clock supper is ready, and the remainder of the evening until nine o'clock is devoted to lectures upon war and the technique of war by naval experts. At nine, the civilian sailor climbs into his hammock and, literally, is "rocked in the cradle of the deep" for the night.

As far as is practicable, each civilian will be placed at the work to which he seems best fitted, thus affording the opportunity to specialize in certain branches of naval work. All, of course, will be taught the manual of arms and various military formations. But there will also be classes in electrical and steam engineering, navigation, radio work and the handling of small boats. Not much, it is understood, will be attempted with torpedoes.

During the first two weeks of the cruise preliminary training in naval matters and discipline will be the chief consideration; but in the last two they will have to receive, understand and execute the orders given them under conditions as nearly approximating war as is possible.

At the end of the first fortnight, the training ships will move to Newport to take part in the annual "war game" with the entire Atlantic Fleet. This year, it is understood, the "game" is to be on a larger scale than ever. Then, for nearly a week, the civilian sailors will get a taste of what naval warfare means—except, of course, that they will be in no danger of fatality or injury. They will handle the guns as they would be handled in war, and they will take part in the great game of attacks upon and defense of the coast.

After this comes what is, perhaps, the most interesting part of the cruise. The "war game" over with, each ship in the training squadron returns to the port from which it sailed. There problems of defense of that particular locality will be worked out in conjunction with the Coast Artillery Corps and certain motor boat organizations which the Navy Department has recently instituted.

This should prove exciting work, and valuable work, too, for by this time the men will be prepared to carry out orders intelligently and with a certain degree of confidence. Moreover, the fact that should these men be called upon later for actual war service they will be stationed at approximately the same points at which they work upon those problems during this final week. And this fact will undoubtdely add zest to their training.

For example, the vessel which sails from Norfolk, Va., will have aboard the volunteers from Maryland, Virginia, the District of Columbia and North Carolina, and will return to Hampton Roads to work out the problem of defending that section of our coast against an invading fleet.

While the Navy Department is desirous of a full enrollment, it by no means follows that any one will be accepted. Indeed, the Department wants only the highest class of men and has set down certain qualifications which must be met before an applicant will be accepted. By this means the unintelligent and the incompetent will be weeded out.

Every applicant must be a citizen of the United States, not younger than nineteen nor older than forty-five years. The object of this provision is to guard against foreign spies entering upon the cruise, and to secure men at the ages when they can the best understand the instructions and be of value later if called upon.

Further, each would-be "civilian-sailor" must pass a rigid physical examination. Also, he must qualify as a member of one of the following classes—graduate or undergraduate of a college, university or technical school, or the possessor of a high school education; pilot or pilot's apprentices; one who has had service on any merchant vessel or fishing vessel in any capacity for six months or more; or one who has had six months' experience as a boilermaker, machinist, shipfitter, coppersmith, carpenter, electrician, fireman, telegrapher or radio operator.

Experts maintain that the United States should have such a reserve of about a hundred thousand men who have at least an idea of what their duties would be in case of war and who have had some training in performing them.

War against a foreign power with a navy of size means a desperate search for officers to fill in the gaps to handle the second line of defense. There are not enough regular officers in the Navy to supply this demand and they must be had. Hence, those who have been trained at all in naval matters are right in line for the honor of defending their country—not all as commissioned officers, perhaps, but in some capacity at least.

RAPID ADVANCE IN COTTON

Damage in Eastern Belt Makes Strong Impression on Market—Net Gain of 12 to 18 Points.

New York, July 27.—Eastern belt crop damage news made a strong impression on the cotton market today and prices rose rapidly, closing within a point or so of the top and 12 to 18 points net higher with the final tone steady. January made a new high record for the month.

At the opening the market was steady and 1 to 3 points net higher, chiefly on a little Liverpool buying and further scattered showers over the Eastern belt. October advanced to 13.17 and January to 13.41, or 8 to 9 points net higher by the end of the first hour.

Sentiment was visibly impressed with the significance of these statements and demand broadened out considerably in the afternoon, including outside buying through commission houses and both Wall street and uptown support, the latter being the first prominent part uptown interests have taken in the market in a long time. Memphis was also a buyer of winter months here, which was considered important in view of the character of crop news from that quarter. Damage in the Eastern belt was estimated at from 25 to 50 per cent. in various private reports received from the South, mainly due to flood conditions, although the lack of fertilizer was also mentioned.

Big Advances on Bullish Crop News—Gain 16 to 17 Points.

New Orleans, July 27. — The cotton market did better today on bullish crop news and had an upward tendency until it met with realizing of profits on long contracts in a large way. The close, however, was well up toward the topmost levels, at a net rise of 14@15 points. The highest levels were reached in the early afternoon, when the most active months were 16 to 17 points up.

Further rains in the Eastern belt and good cables opened the market at the advance and prices were held above the level of yesterday's close throughout the session. Shorts were heavy buyers of covers. Around the middle of the day there was a demand for contracts for long account, which materially helped the market.

RAILS AGAIN DEPRESSED

Heaviness in Some of the Better Known Specialties—Trading Light and Very Limited.

New York, July 27.—Important stocks, particularly rails, were once more under moderate pressure today, with sympathetic heaviness in some of the better known specialties. Trading was almost the lightest of any full session thus far this summer and was limiten more than ordinarily to the usual speculative favorites, a half score of which made up fully 60 per cent of the day's business. The last half of the session was characterized by absolute stagnation, with some hardening of prices at the close.

United States Steel was even more apathetic than yesterday and the utter failure of the stock to make any response to the company's remarkable earnings, together with the extra dividend, ocacsioned further adverse criticism.

Declines of 1 to 2 points were registered by such rails as St. Paul, Canadian Pacific, Soo, Chicago & Northwestern, New Haven and the Coalers. The imminence of important developments in the railroad labor situation was again used as a lever to depress these issues, few of which showed any resistance.

Virginia Iron, Coal & Coke and Atlantic, Gulf & West Indies also receded 1 to 2 points.

Bonds were irregular. United States 2s declined 1-4 per cent.

"It is my opinion that the American people ought to send for another doctor for the Mexican patient," answered Senator Lippett.

Only one French cruiser was discernible from land today, but it was reported here that two, the Descartes and the Conde, were not far from the neutrality squad. Once during the day both disappeared from sight, going, it was understood, to the vicinity of the southern drill grounds.

CHAIRMAN WARREN IN RALEIGH

Believes Republican Vote is Going to Be Reduced in State.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Raleigh, N. C., July 27.—Democratic State Chairman Thomas D. Warren is here from New Bern in readiness to open the Democratic campaign headquarters here August 1. He has secured rooms in the Capital Club building, the same that Hon. E. L. Daughtridge used as his headquarters in his campaign for the nomination for Governor in the primary campaign.

Mr. Warren says he is delighted with the prospects for the campaign. He finds the part yleaders alive to the importance of the campaign and the necessity of holding down the minority party to its usual inconsequential vote. He believes that instead of the Republican gains that leaders of that party ar ebeasting that they will make, there will be a still further shrinkage in the following of this political organization already so thoroughly discredited in this State.

Raleigh, N. C., July 27.—Miss Mary O. Graham, former assistant superintendent of the Mecklenburg county public schools and now president of Peace Institute, is here from a trip through the State and says that she has assurances that she will open the institution this fall with a "full enrollment." She will devote some new to giving personal attention to repairs and general improvements that are to be made before the opening of the fall term.

sors and maids of honor. Many of the Daughters of the Confederacy were also in the parade with the veterans. The Wilmington fire department followed in the rear with the fire equipment. The Hanover Concert Band played patriotic airs while they marched with the procession.

Thousands of people lined the sidewalks along the line of march which was from Fifth on Market to Front, thence on Front to Walnut, thence to Third and thence by the City Hall, where the parade was reviewed by General Metts and his staff. On the City Hall steps were many hundreds of women and children who sang "The Old North State," and "Dixie" as the procession of veterans filed by with uncovered heads as a mark of respect for the commanding officers.

There were nearly a hundred automobiles in the parade and each was filled with veterans, many of them dressed in uniforms of gray. Nearly a hundred of them marched on foot at the head of the procession of automobiles and showed that they had not yet forgotten to keep step, even though they could not walk as erect as they did 50 years ago.

The automobiles were decorated with the Stars and Bars and the residences and business houses along the line of march were also gaily decorated. The crowds gathered along the sidewalks cheered the veterans.

WORST HEAT WAVE IN FIFTEEN YEARS

Yorkers more than the usual discomfort that accompanies July heat.

Householders complain of mildew and many have built furnace fires to dry their homes. Merchants and manufacturers dealing in commodities affected by dampness report damage to their goods.

The weather forecaster predicts that the hot wave in the West may reach here tomorrow. It will be hotter than today but the humidity may be less.

DETENTION OF KELLY IS CAUSE OF INQUIRY

Moore, National Secretary of the Irish Relief Fund committee, who urged in the name of the 500,000 American contributors to the relief fund that "the last ounce of influence be exerted" to secure release of the Kelly party. The government, he declared, in refusing to honor their passports, had offered "an insult to the American nation and people."

WILMINGTON DISTRICT IS FOR UNIFICATION

Conference at Clinton Votes for United Methodism.

Next Conference at Richlands—Appreciation of Services of Presiding Elder Thompson Expressed—Addresses.

(Special Star Telegram.)

Clinton, N. C., July 27.—Wilmington District Conference, M. E. church, South, convened at 9 a. m. with religious exercises led by Rev. B. H. Black, of Rose Hill. Dr. S. B. Turrentine, president of Greensboro College for Women, was present and was introduced to the conference. The characters of the following local preachers were passed: A. B. Crumpler, J. M. Marlowe, G. B. Webster, J. Q. Long, J. L. King, J. M. Byrd, J. H. Swain, W. B. Ward, J. O. Long, E. H. Hardison, J. H. Hill, B. O. Merritt, C. M. Grant and J. M. Long.

The following local preacher's licenses were renewed: J. Q. Long, J. L. King, J. H. Swain, W. B. Ward, J. O. Long, E. H. Hardison, J. H. Hill, B. O. Merritt, J. M. Long, C. M. Grant. The conference passed a motion requiring reports from all local preachers to be made each year.

Dr. S. B. Turrentine was given the floor and spoke in behalf of Greensboro College for Women. Rev. M. T. Plyler spoke in behalf of Louisburg Female College. Presiding Elder Thompson stated to the conference that Bishop Candler had written a letter calling the attention of the conference to the Candler School of Theology, Emory University, and urged the attendance of young ministers and ministerial students to this, the church school.

Letters of greetings were announced from Rev. A. D. Betts, of Greensboro, and Rev. C. W. Smith, of Whiteville. Rev. A. S. Barnes, Superintendent of the Methodist Orphanage at Raleigh, was introduced to the conference. Dr. S. B. Turrentine preached at the 11 o'clock hour. His text was from Mark 13th chapter, 34th verse.

Conference convened at 2:30 with religious services led by Rev. T. W. Lee, of Kenansville. The question of Lay Activities was called and thoroughly discussed by preachers and laymen. Mr. Fred G. Rose, of Wilmington, was elected district lay leader, succeeding himself.

Resolutions were adopted endorsing and favoring the proposed unification of the Methodist Episcopal church, North, and the Methodist Episcopal church, South. Upon the recommendation of the committee on license to preach, Arthur Samuel Maxwell, of Duplin county, was licensed as a local preacher.

A licensing committee was appointed as follows: M. T. Plyler, J. H. Shore, J. P. Pate and T. G. Vickers.

The conference adopted by a rising vote resolutions of appreciation for the able and universally courteous administration of the presiding elder, L. E. Thompson, during the past four years. According to the four-year-rule of the church, this year concludes Elder Thompson's services as presiding elder of the Wilmington district. After these resolutions were adopted the conference joined in singing "Blest be the Tie That Binds." Rev. L. S. Massey was given the floor and spoke in behalf of the Raleigh Christian Advocate.

By vote of the conference, it was decided to hold the next session at Richlands. Lay delegates and alternates to the annual conference were elected as follows: J. B. Merritt, J. W. Dale, H. S. McGirt and J. E. Steed; alternates, A. M. Benton, R. P. Raiford, W. R. Newbury and B. O. Merritt. The sermon tonight was preached by Rev. M. T. Plyler and was a discourse of great power, his subject being the "Pre-eminence of the Kingdom."

Resolutions were unanimously adopted by the conference expressing the appreciation and thanks of each and every preacher, delegate and visitor to the people of Clinton for the most excelent entertainment and kindness shown them during their stay here. The conference then adjourned sine die. Most of the preachers and delegates will leave for their respective homes early tomorrow morning.

SOUTHPORT TALKS ABOUT BUT DOESN'T EXPECT SUBMARINE

Menhaden Fishing Good—Shrimps Appearing—Building Streets.

Southport, N. C., July 27.—"Hopes" that the German submarine Bremen might have to come to this port for refuge, has been a local subject for discussion for days. "No such luck for us" has been the oft expressed final word.

It was with regrets and countless "good lucks" that the steamer Geo. W. Getty steamed away from here before sunrise last Monday. Word has come that the Getty reached Savannah Tuesday and left that port at once for Jacksonville, Fla., presumably on orders.

Work on the U. S. Quarantine Station continues under Jack Robbins, contractor. The government supervision of the contract is being done by J. E. Langley.

This week has been good for the menhaden fishermen. There has been little wind. What is making the factory people feel specially gbod is that the menhaden are running fatter, one report saying that the oil was going better than five gallons to the thousand.

Shrimps are appearing in small quantities inside, not very much effort to secure enough for local fishermen. Dosher-St. George Company has its factory in perfect order for the season of shrimp, which it is thought will start next month.

The city authorities are continuing the good road work on the city streets, constructing a roadway in the center of the street of clay and sand, which is found the best of any materials tried. It is a road of comparatively small cost, the clay being obtained along the W. B. & S. railroad, a few miles away. It is easily kept up, and seems to improve with age.

Dental Corps of N. C. National Guard Called to Duty.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Raleigh, N. C., July 27.—An order was issued today from the headquarters of the National Guard here for the dental corps of the Guard to report for duty at Camp Glenn at once. The corps consists of Dr. S. R. Horton, Raleigh; Dr. Ben J. Durham and Dr. B. F. Hall, of Asheville. These dentists have the rank of first lieutenants.

WHITE MARSH FLOODED AND BIG BRIDGE GONE

Main Road Between Wilmington and Whiteville Impassable.

All Bridges on Cornwallis Causeway Expected to Go Out—Fred Lawson in Jail at Whiteville; Wanted in Robeson.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Whiteville, N. C., July 27.—Not in ten years has the White Marsh, one mile east of Whiteville, above which the Cornwallis causeway nearly a mile long was built, attained its present fullness of water, with the indications that it will rise even higher by tomorrow. Water now floows over the "Big Bridge" in the middle of the causeway and bridges on either side have washed away.

The old pavilion, or open air dancing resort, is completely submerged. Rural Carrier S. W. Smith, of route No. 3, was unable to make his delivery yesterday or this morning because of the high water on the causeway, and it will have been three days tomorrow since the citizens in Western Prong have received their daily mail.

Passing over this road, leading from here to Wilmington, is impossible at present and with a rise of eight inches of water from 9 o'clock yesterday afternoon until 9 o'clock today, indications are that the majority of the 26 bridges across the causeway will be washed away in the next thirty-six hours. Passing across Soles swamp, just below Vineland, is reported as well nigh impassable and hazardous at present. All streams near town are overflowing, the bridges at Pine Log swamp having washed away yesterday.

Fred Lawson in Jail.

Fred Lawson, is in jail here charged with breaking into the store of the Illion Supply Company at Evergreen, in lieu of giving a $200 justified bond required by Magistrate A. M. Benton, before whom he was tried. When it was reported he had been lodged in jail here, the Robeson authorities were quick to ask that he be turned over to them after trial in this county, Lawson having successfully escaped from the chain gang in that county three different times. He is under an indictment now in that county for breaking in a store at Raynham and also wanted on the charge of being an escaped convict. He will be tried in this county at the November term of court and if acquitted, will be held as a witness against others said to be implicated in the Evergreen robbery.

WANT STATE CONVICTS USED ON PUBLIC ROADS

In Connection With Funds From Federal Appropriation.

Resolution Offered by Colonel Cameron Adopted by Wake Good Roads Association — Automobile Taxes for Maintenance.

(Special Star Telegram.)

Raleigh, N. C., July 27.—Resolutions offered by Col. Benehan Cameron, of the State Highway Commission, were unanimously adopted this afternoon by the Wake Good Roads Association, insisting that provision be made for State convicts to work on the highways in the State that are improved through Federal aid, and that the revenue from automobile license taxes be devoted to the maintenance of those roads improved through Federal aid.

The plan is for the State to receive the $115,000 that is the extent of Federal aid for the first period and offset this with the convict labor in putting up the like amount that the act of Congress requires.

The State Highway Commission has already prescribed that this co-operative construction of roads in North Carolina shall be on the main highway lines such as the Central Highway and the Quebec-Miami road, which two highways intersect at Raleigh.

Highway Commission Active.

Colonel Cameron, of the State Highway Commission, can form no estimate yet of highway damage in flooded sections of the State. He believes the greatest loss is in bridges and in bridge approaches. The commission has State Highway Engineer Fallis and assistant engineers in the flooded section co-operating with local authorities passing on utility of portions of bridges that are available and in getting lowest bids for bridge reconstruction, protection from "bridge sharks" as Colonel Cameron terms them.

RATE HEARING IN CHARLESTON

Fertilizer People There Claim N. C. Intrastate Rates Are Unfair.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Raleigh, N. C., July 27.—Secretary A. J. Maxwell, of the North Carolina Corporation Commission, and Hon. Cameron Morrison, of Charlotte, as special counsel for the commission, have gone to Charleston, S. C., to attend a hearing before a representative of the Interstate Commerce Commission in the suit that fertilizer manufacturers of that city have instituted similar to the noted Royster case in Norfolk, alleging North Carolina intrastate rates that are lower than the interstate rates for like points from Charleston to the extent that they are seriously discriminatory.

The hearing will be very similar to that at Norfolk last week when the counsel in the Royster case requested a dismissal of the preceding. Along with Secretary Maxwell and Mr. Morrison went J. L. Graham, of Winston-Salem, freight rate expert for the R. J. Reynolds Co.; H. W. B. Glover, of Richmond; Dr. H. Q. Alexander, president of the North Carolina Farmers' Union, and Prof. Carmichael, of Raleigh.

The Wilmington Printing Co., of Wilmington, amends its charter so that the authorized capital is increased to $100,000. J. W. Little is president of the corporation.

MRS. ESTELLE KEISTER SLAIN BY HER HUSBAND

Z. E. Keister Who Attempted Suicide After the Discovery by Firemen of Wife's Body, Died Early Yesterday Morning.

Norfolk, Va., July 27.—Mrs. Estelle Osborne Keister, whose charred body was found in the wrecked attic of her home, on the morning of July 20 came to her death at the hands of her husband, Z. E. Keister, was the verdict rendered today by the coroner's jury which spent two hours in hearing the testimony gathered by the police department. The accused man who fired a 32-calibre bullet into his brain a few hours after the discovery of his wife's body by firemen, died at 5:40 o'clock this morning.

The evidence at the inquest, although circumstantial, was strong and left no room to doubt that there had been foul play. A messenger boy and another witness told of hearing the screams of a woman in the vicinity of the Keister home a couple of hours before the discovery of the fire. The boy promptly reported to the police, but no investigation was made. A neighbor told of blood spots on Keister's shirt. The stories he told regarding the whereabouts of his wife previous to the discovery of her body were also contradictory. The investigating detectives told of finding a rug, a number of pieces of kindling wood saturated with kerosene oil and a bloody stick near the woman's body.

The double funeral of Mr. and Mrs. Keister will be held from the residence of a brother tomorrow afternoon.

WARSAW HAS $5,000 TO USE IN STREET IMPROVEMENT

And Has Just Organized a Chamber of Commerce—Officers Elected.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Warsaw, N. C., July 27.—A chamber of commerce for the town of Warsaw was organized Tuesday night with the following officers: President, A. O. Moore; vice president, Mr. F. L. Faison, secretary treasurer, Mr. Ralph Honeycutt. Various committees were appointed.

As head of the street improvement committee, Mr. Moore, on Wednesday, gave a contract for $1,200 worth of steel to be used in culverts draining the streets, to Harry Bros. Culvert Co., of New Port, Ky.

Concrete culverts to cost a total of $2,000 are to be used in the canals of the city. Main street is to be macadamized and concrete pavements to be placed on the sidewalks on each side of the street extending from the site of the new union depot, the material for which is now being placed, for several blocks in the opposite direction. A total of $5,000 will be expended for street improvement, this being the amount of the bond issue voted for this purpose a year ago.

FOR SUCCESSOR TO J. O. CARR

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Rocky Mount, N. C., July 27.—Friends in this city are urging the name of former State Senator T. T. Thorne, now elector for the Fourth district of North Carolina, for the position of presidential elector-at-large to succeed J. O. Carr, of Wilmington. Since Mr. Carr has been selected for appointment as Federal attorney, the position held by him becomes vacant and when Chairman Warren, of the State Democratic executive committee, takes up the consideration of a successor it is expected that Senator Thorne's name will be presented.

The local attorney has long been in the service of the party, is a prominent Democrat and a forceful speaker, while friends here insist that there are few men in the State who could more ably present the Democratic cause or whose ability is excelled in answering an opponent's claims.
